LIST OF STATUTES IN FORCE, OTHER THAN THOSE INCLUDED IN THE CODES, AND OF THE AMEND- MENTS THERETO, WITH REFERENCES TO DECISIONS RESPECTING THEIR CONSTITUTIONALITY.

NOTE.—From this list (except as mentioned below) are excluded all statutes which can no longer be regarded as of any substantial effect, either because directly or impliedly repealed by the Codes, or otherwise, or which, though not so repealed, have accomplished their purpose and have no other effect than to justify acts long since done by their authority, such as appropriation bills, grants of franchises, or of rights for a limited period, or directions or authorizations to perform acts which have doubtless already been done, or to contract obligations which have been satisfied, and statutes creating and providing for the government of municipal corporations, which have become inoperative by the reincorporation of the same municipalities by or under subsequent statutes either general or special.

In accordance with the directions contained in the statute creating the present commission, however, there has been included in this list a number of statutes which are not in force, and in each such instance there has been noted the statute superseding or expressly repealing the same, and such decisions of our Supreme Court as may be useful in determining whether such statute is unconstitutional or no longer in force.

No index of this list has been prepared, as recourse can be in the first instance had to the general index of 1850-1907, to ascertain the year and page of the statute sought, and, with the aid of the data thus obtained, it can be easily ascertained from the following list whether the same is in force. This list is not in any sense authority, and in that regard it has no higher sanction than had the "volume of statutes continued in force," compiled by the Code Commissioners in 1873 (Needham v. Thresher, 49 Cal. 392).

- Concerning lawful fences. Repealed as to many counties by the statute of 1855, p. 154, from which, however, Amador, Butte, Calaveras, Colusa, Klamath, Nevada, Placer, San Bernardino, San Diego, Santa Barbara, Shasta, Siskiyou, Trinity, Tuolumne, and Yuba counties were omitted. The statute of 1855 was afterward amended to include Butte, Calaveras, and Nevada. Special acts were passed relating to other counties, but the statute of 1850 has apparently not been repealed as to Amador, Klamath, San Diego, Santa Barbara, Siskiyou, and Trinity counties. Section 19 of the Political Code continued in force all laws in relation to lawful fences which were in force at the time that section was enacted.
- 203 83 Prescribing the mode of maintaining and defending possessory actions on lands belonging to the United States. Repealed 1852: 158.
- 247 100 Relating to bills of exchange and promissory notes. Probably not in force in any particular. See Kendall v. Parker, 103 Cal. 319.
- 273 117 To provide for the incorporation of colleges. Amended 1855: 110; 1867-8: 69, 218; 1869-70: 419; 1873-4: 85; supplemented 1863: 775; 1871-2: 10. Section 288 of the Civil Code repealed this act, together with other acts affecting corporations, but provided that corporations which were in existence at the time the codes went into effect might remain subject to the laws under which they were formed. It may therefore perhaps be doubted whether the amendment of 1873-4, p. 85, which was passed after section 288 went into effect, is of any validity, seeing that it purports to amend an act already repealed.

|-----|-----|--|
| 171 | 13 | To regulate the coinage of money by individuals. Superseded as to its penal provisions by sec. 6 of the Penal Code, and probably entirely superseded. |
| 185 | 18 | Concerning costs in criminal actions removed before trial. See Needham v. Thresher, 49 Cal. 392. |
| 305 | 37 | Granting certain property to the town of Martinez. |
| 307 | 41 | To provide for the disposition of certain property of the state. |
| 311 | 44 | In relation to the city of San Francisco, and releasing the right of the state to the San Francisco beach and water lots. Repealed 1853:36. |
| 422 | 106 | To declare certain rivers and creeks navigable. This statute, and others declaring the navigability of certain streams were incorporated into sec. 2349 of the Political Code; and the provisions relative to the streams which were mentioned in these statutes, but of which no mention is made in the code section, were probably repealed by implication. See Cardwell v. County of Sacramento, 79 Cal. 347. |
| 432 | 117 | Concerning oysters. Continued in force by sec. 10 of the Political Code and sec. 23 of the Penal Code; but later repealed 1873-4:941. |
| 445 | 122 | To regulate rodeos. Amended 1852:102; 1855:163; 1858:70; 1861:180; 1865-6:673; 1873-4:793; supplemented 1858:155. |

Gunn*, 148 Cal. 745—Court of Appeal decision contra—84 Pac. Rep. 370). As to subdivision and section last referred to see also Chinn v. Gunn, 148 Cal. 755—Court of Appeal decision—84 Pac. Rep. 374.

1899.

- 9 11 To prevent the maintenance against the state or any county of an action for services in the assessment or collection, by an officer, of ad valorem taxes.
- 13 16 Providing for the dissolution and annulment of reclamation and protection districts for non-user of corporate powers.
- 17 18 To provide for the ownership of property and winding up of the affairs of disincorporated municipal corporations.
- 22 21 Authorizing municipalities of less than the first class to obtain lands for cemetery purposes.
- 24 24 Relating to constitutional amendments. Unconstitutional only in so far as it purports to enact a new section 1 (People v. Curry, 130 Cal. 82).
- 25 25 To prevent deception in the sale of process or renovated butter. Repealed 1905: 470. Re-enacted and codified, Pen. C. § 383a (1905: 770).
- 29 30 To provide for the construction of a sewerage system at the state prison at Folsom.
- 37 41 To provide for the alteration of the boundaries of incorporated towns and cities by the annexation of uninhabited territory. (See People v. Town of Ontario, 148 Cal. 625.)
- 46 43 To prohibit the desecration of the flag of the United States.
- 56 47 To prohibit the payment of money by the state to counties and cities and counties for the collection of taxes.
- 63 54 In relation to municipal elections held separate from general state elections; repealed 1907: 664. See 1897: 288.
- 65 55 To establish a camp of instruction for the national guard.
- 75 62 Providing for the reorganization of municipal corporations.
- 81 66 Providing for the establishment and maintenance of sewer districts adjacent to municipal corporations.
- 91 76 For the protection of horticulture. Amended 1903: 32. See also 1903: 524.
- 98 82 To change and permanently locate the boundary line between the counties of Shasta and Plumas.

*Doubtless, the intent was to amend section 167 of the act of 1897, referring to San Bernardino county, instead of the same numbered section of the act of 1883, referring to an entirely different subject; but it may be doubted whether the amendment is of any validity, as it appears to be an attempt to amend a law not at the time in force. See Fletcher v. Prather, 102 Cal. 413, 418.

1899—Continued.

STATUTES REPEALED BY THE CODES.

Section 4505 of the Political Code states that "the express repeal of statutes will be provided for by a separate statute." The bill contemplated by this statement (Senate bill No. 519, session 1871-2) failed of passage in the Assembly, because of an objection made to its being taken up out of order. A list of the statutes enumerated in this bill, and hence intended to be expressly repealed, is here given for the purpose of indicating what statutes, according to the then Code Commissioners Haymond, Burch, and McKune, were superseded by the Codes.

CODE SECTIONS

Added, Amended, or Repealed, from Adoption of the Codes in 1872 to end of the Session of 1907.

NOTE.—The use of the star indicates that the section is subject to the constitutional objections sustained in Lewis vs. Dunne, 134 Cal. 291.

The State Militia Acts of 1905 (1905:258-284 and 285-294), the County Government Act of 1907 (1907:354-558), and certain other acts did not in the new code sections always cover matter analogous to that in the old sections. The following schedule indicates only the numbers of sections affected, without regard to the subject-matter thereof.

NOTES ON CERTAIN AMENDMENTS TO THE CODES, 1905 AND 1907.

The following notes refer to the sections of the Codes, amended, revised, added, or repealed by the Legislature at the sessions of 1905 and 1907, as recommended by Hon. John F. Davis, during his term as Commissioner for the Revision and Reform of the Law, and have been revised by him from notes made at the time of the consideration of the legislation by the committees and sub-committees of the Senate and Assembly having it in charge:

CIVIL CODE.

SECTION.

7. Merely adds the Saturday half-holiday to the section so as to make it conform to section 10 of the Political Code adopted in 1905, and to section 10 of the Code of Civil Procedure, as amended in 1907.
- 51, 52. The statute of 1897, page 137, relating to the rights of persons, is codified in the two sections above named.
- 53, 54. The statute of 1893, page 220, relating to the rights of persons, is codified in the sections above named.
58. The provisions of this section are contained in the present section 82. The section is therefore unnecessary, and is, therefore, repealed.
60. The change consists in the insertion of the word "mongolians" after the word "negroes."
68. The change consists in the substitution of the word "others" for "other" before "than"; the substitution of "a party" for "the parties" after "than"; and the substitution of "it" for "that marriage" after "invalidate." The meaning of the section is unchanged.
- 79a (79½). The change consists in the omission of the words "procuring a license and" after "to," thus requiring a license in every case, but leaving the mode of celebrating the marriage as at present. The section is renumbered 79a.
84. The design of the amendment is to make the rule declared in this section applicable to all judgments adjudging marriage null, the present section applying only to cases where a marriage is annulled on the ground that a former husband or wife was living.
226. The first two sentences of this section have been recast with the design of making the proceedings for adoption judicial, thereby supporting it by the same intendments which are indulged in favor of other proceedings conducted in courts of record.
227. The change consists in the substitution of the word "court" for the word "judge," and in the addition of the last sentence, said sentence being added for the purpose of making it clear that the papers constituting part of the adoption, or of the proceeding therefor, must be filed and preserved by the clerk.
- 242, 243, 244, 245. The provisions of the above sections, relating to guardian and ward, are controlled by sections 1747, 1758, and 1793 of the Code of Civil Procedure. They are, therefore, unnecessary and misleading, and are, therefore, repealed.
246. The change consists in the addition of subdivision 4, which is a codification of the statute of 1873-4, page 297, relating to the care of orphan and abandoned children. The penal provisions of that act are, however, omitted, as they do not properly find a place in this Code.
247. The subject-matter of this section is provided for in section 1753 of the Code of Civil Procedure, and the section is, therefore, repealed.
- 248, 249. The provisions of these sections are included in sections 1753 and 1770 of the Code of Civil Procedure.
258. This section, which prescribed the mode of placing insane persons in the asylum, has been supplanted by later legislation (see statute of 1897, page 311, relative to the establishment of a lunacy commission, and Political Code, sections 2136 to 2199), and is, therefore, repealed.

SECTION.

- 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276. These sections codify the statute of 1875-6, page 842, relative to masters and apprentices, as amended in 1880, page 28, the old chapter being repealed and the provisions of the acts above referred to substituted in place thereof. In this codification section 1 of the statute has been made section 264; sections 2 and 7, 265; sections 3, 4, 5, and 12, 266; section 6, 267; section 8 and the latter part of section 9, 268; the first clause of section 9, and all of section 10, 269; section 11, 270; section 13, 271; section 14, 272; section 15, 273; sections 16 and 17, 274; section 19, 275; section 20, 276. It will be observed that section 18 of the statute has been omitted. It purports to make the parties to an indenture of apprenticeship liable to the master for any breach thereof. The theory of the statute is that the contract of apprenticeship is not made by the minor, but by his parent or guardian. If such parent or guardian is made personally liable on the contract, a parent will rarely, and the guardian almost never, enter into it. It seems sufficient that such parent or guardian be made answerable for the cost of the proceeding brought by the master to be released from the indenture, as provided for in section 274. The master on his part is not absolutely bound, because he may, if he wishes to remove from the state, or to quit his trade or business, apply to be released from his contract, and he may take like action whenever the apprentice is guilty of neglect, refusal to do his duty, or gross misbehavior. These considerations seem to furnish good reason for the omission of the section.
290. The change consists in the addition of all after the first sentence in subdivision 6, providing for the classification of the capital stock into preferred and common stock.
- 290a. A new section providing an effective method of enforcing section 25 of the Bank Commission Act of March 24, 1903, added by the amendment of 1905 (Stats. 1905, p. 307).
299. The change consists in the insertion of the words "other than the county in which its original articles of incorporation are filed" after "state."
302. The change consists in the omission of the words "and the right to vote determined" after "given." The right to vote is controlled by section 307.
304. The provisions of the section, declaring that no by-law or any amendment thereof shall take effect until copied in the book of by-laws, are amended so as to permit by-laws and amendments thereof, which have been duly passed, to be treated as valid and enforceable against the corporation and persons having notice thereof, regardless of whether or not they have been copied into the proper book. It has often happened that by-laws have been published and generally acted upon by the corporation, and by others, and thereafter their effect has been sought to be avoided on account of the failure of the proper officer to perform his duty of copying them as the Code directs. The change consists in the addition of the last sentence.
309. The change consists in the omission of the words "nor must they divide, withdraw, or pay to the stockholders, or any of them, any part of the capital stock," where those words first occur, and in the omission of the words "in the event of its dissolution," after "thereof." The reason for the omission of the words first above alluded to is that by some clerical error they occur twice in the section. The words "in the event of its dissolution" are omitted because their presence makes it impossible to enforce the liability against the directors unless the corporation is first dissolved, which could not have been the intention of the legislature.
310. The amendment, while it authorizes the removal of the whole board of directors by a two-thirds vote of the members or stockholders, denies the power to remove less than the whole number by such vote. The reason for this is that by the system of cumulative voting sanctioned by section 307, a minority may obtain representation in the board of directors; if so, a director elected to represent a minority of one third ought not to be removed by the subsequent vote of the other two thirds, and the system of cumulative voting and minority representation thus made ineffective. The first sentence only is changed.
311. By the amendment proposed the holders of a majority of the stock, though their number is less than three, are authorized to apply to the justice to issue a warrant for an election. The change consists in the addition of the last sentence.
312. The change in the amendment of this section, as approved March 21, 1905, consisted in the substitution of the words "superior court" in place of "district court," and in the omission of the words "bona fide" before "stockholder." For the purpose of election, a person appearing upon the books of the corporation to be a stockholder should be permitted to vote, and election officers should not be vested with authority to deny such a stockholder the right to vote, or to claim that for some reason he is not

SECTION.

- a bona fide stockholder. (See Smith v. S. F. & N. P. Ry. Co., 115 Cal. 584.) On March 22, 1905, another act (not suggested by the Commissioner) was approved, superseding the act approved upon the day before. This act omitted some of the changes of the act of March 21, but made other changes. In the session of 1907, the section as approved March 21, 1905, was repealed, but the changes contained in it were incorporated into the amendment of the section, as approved March 22, 1905.
314. The design of the amendment is to extend the provisions of the section to all elections howsoever authorized, and for this purpose the words "by law" are inserted after "appointed," "in" is omitted after "appointed," and "or otherwise" are inserted after "by-laws."
315. The change consists in the substitution of the words "superior court of the county" for "district court of the district."
322. The change consists in the substitution of the language of the first sentence of section 3 of Article XII of the Constitution in place of the first sentence of the section. Without such change it is believed the section would be unconstitutional. (See Larrabee v. Baldwin, 35 Cal. 155.) The words "an equal share" are substituted for "his proportion."
323. The change in 1905 consisted in the addition of the words "but any certificate issued prior to full payment must show on its face what amount has been paid thereon," the object being to require a certificate issued prior to full payment to show the amount paid thereon. The change in 1907 consisted in the addition of the last two sentences, to cover cases of the issuance of preferred and common stock.
325. The amendment is designed to make it clear that shares of stock standing in the name of a married woman are presumed to be her separate property, and that they may be dealt with by her as such, in the absence of proof and notice to the contrary.
359. The change consists in the addition of the "provided, however," clause in subdivision first, to cover cases of corporations issuing preferred and common stock.
360. Section 363, approved March 5, 1899, is added to section 360, to the end that there shall no longer be two sections numbered 363.
361. Repealed, and the matter therein added to section 587a.
363. There were formerly two sections of this number. Section 363, as adopted March 5, 1889, is repealed and its provisions amalgamated with section 360. This leaves in force the other section 363, which was adopted March 19, 1889.
384. As a result of the oversight in not repealing section 384 at the time section 404 was added in 1905, there were two sections in the Civil Code containing identical language, one being 384, and the other 404; 384 was not in the proper place, and 404 was. Section 384 was therefore repealed in 1907, leaving section 404 intact, and a proviso was added in the repealing act so that any rights acquired under 384 should not be lost, but continued in force under the provisions of section 404.
388. This section as it stood prior to the amendment applied only to corporations authorized to receive tolls, and was probably unconstitutional as creating a special law where a general law may be made applicable. (See Krause v. Durbrow, 127 Cal. 681.) The amendment makes the section applicable to all corporations.
391. The amendment makes the section applicable to persons and companies as well as to corporations.
392. The amendment makes applicable to an execution sale of franchises the law of redemption applicable to other sales of real property.
393. Omits the words "upon which the taxes are paid," that having apparently no relevancy to the section.
399. This section, which purports merely to designate the place in the Code of Civil Procedure where the dissolution of corporations is provided for, does not state any rule of law and constitutes but an imperfect index to the provisions referred to, and is, therefore, repealed.
400. The change consists in the substitution of the word "a" for "such."
401. The design of the amendment is to require the written assent of stockholders representing two thirds of the capital stock instead of permitting two thirds in number of the stockholders to act by their written consent. The change consists in the substitution of the words "two thirds of the members or of stockholders representing two thirds of the capital stock" in place of that number of stockholders or members.
- 403, 404. The amendment of 1905 added a new chapter, entitled "General Provisions Affecting Corporations." Said chapter is made up of the old section 403, which stood in a chapter entitled "Extension and Dissolution of Corporations," and of the matter in old section 384, which stood in a chapter entitled "Examination of Corporations." The object of the rearrangement was the placing of the sections under a more appropriate chapter heading.

SECTION.

- 405, 406, 407. These sections codify the statute of 1871-2, page 826, as amended 1899, page 111, and section 1 of the statute of 1880, page 21.
- 408, 409, 410. These sections codify the statute of 1901, page 108.
421. There being two sections 421, referring to the same subject, one approved March 3, 1905, and the other approved March 21, 1905, the former was repealed and the latter left intact. Note the provisions of section 2 of the repealing act. (Stats. 1907, p. 597.)
428. The change consists in the insertion of the words "at once" before "reinsuring."
- 431, 452. Old section 431, which dealt with the amounts to be received by life insurance companies, and stood in a chapter entitled "Fire, Marine, and Title Insurance Corporations," is transferred to a more appropriate chapter, and numbered 452.
448. This section exempts accident insurance companies from stamp duties, but as there are no such duties under the law as it now stands, the section is unnecessary, and is, therefore, repealed.
- 452a, 453. The statute of 1873-4, page 745, as amended by the statutes of 1880, page 25, and 1901, page 6, relating to mutual benefit associations, is codified in the above sections, and a new chapter, entitled "Mutual Benefit and Life Associations," is added, to consist of sections 452a and 453.
- 453a, 453b, 453c. The statute of 1875-6, page 689, concerning the powers of underwriters, as amended by the statute of 1897, page 223, is codified in the sections above named, a new chapter being added, entitled "Corporations to Discover Fire, and to Save Property and Human Life From Destruction Thereby," to consist of sections 453a, 453b, 453c.
- 453d, 453e, 453f, 453g, 453h, 453i, 453j, 453k, 453l, 453m, 453n, 453o, 453p. The above sections are a codification of the statute of 1891, page 126, relating to life, health, accident, and annuity or endowment insurance on the assessment plan. They are placed in a new chapter, entitled "Life, Health, Accident, and Annuity or Endowment Insurance on the Assessment Plan."
- 465a. This section is a codification of the statute of 1893, page 208, relating to the operation of railroads.
468. The amendment consists in codifying and adding to the old section the provisions of the statute of 1880, page 43, to compel the operation of railroads, and of the statute of 1897, page 5, to provide for the management and operation of railroads above certain elevations.
- 473a. Section 2 of the statute of 1880, page 21, authorizing railway and other corporations organized under the laws of this state or of any state or territory of the United States to do business in this state, on equal terms, is codified in this section.
481. The amendment consists in the substitution of the word "its" for "their," and the substitution of "it" for "they," thus correcting errors of grammar.
489. Section 11 of the statute of 1880, page 47, defining the powers of the board of railroad commissioners, is substituted in place of the old section 489. The latter had been inoperative since the adoption of the Constitution of 1879.
493. The change consists in the substitution of the words "The provisions of section four hundred and ninety-two" in place of "This act."
494. In 1899 a section relating to the sale of railroads was added to the Code, and numbered 494. In 1903 a new section was added, also numbered 494, and clearly intended to supersede the old section 494. Accordingly, it is thought advisable to repeal the earlier section.
513. The change consists in the omission of the words "they were" before the word "before." The omission does not change the meaning of the section.
514. The change consists in the omission of that part of the section excepting from its operation the counties of Butte, Del Norte, Humboldt, Klamath, Plumas, and Sierra.
517. The section as it stood before the change authorized the toll-gatherer to prevent from passing through his gate persons leading or driving animals or vehicles subject to toll. The form of the section has been changed to express what was doubtless originally intended by the legislature.
518. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or any vehicle or animal" after "passenger."
522. The change consists in the substitution of the word "its" in place of "their," thus correcting an error of grammar.
524. The statute of 1897, page 191, authorizing municipal corporations to construct paths and roads for the use of bicycles and other horseless vehicles, is codified in this section.
528. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or other governing body having authority in that behalf," after "supervisor."

SECTION.

529. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or other governing body having authority in that behalf," after "supervisors."
530. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or other governing body having authority in that behalf," after "supervisors."
- 536, 537, 538, 539, 540. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or telephone" after the word "telegraph," thus including telephone companies within the operation of the above sections.
549. The change consists in the omission of the two sentences following the word "charge," said sentences having been superseded by the provisions of the Constitution of 1879, providing for the mode in which water rates shall be fixed.
550. This section is an expression of the constitutional provisions found in the Constitution of 1879, respecting the right of corporations to use streets for laying water pipes, and is, therefore, repealed.
551. The design of the amendment is to better express the purpose of the section and to remove the objections that it may be unconstitutional in vesting the supervisors with an arbitrary power to require or not require bridges, and to supply the present defect in not providing any means of coercing the performance of the duty created.
- 583*b*. This section is a codification of the statutes of 1893, page 183, and 1897, page 27, the only change made being in the provisions concerning the person who is to make the report. The original statute provided that the report should be made by the president or secretary. It has been thought best to impose the duty upon a single officer, so that it cannot be evaded by one officer, by his saying that it was the duty of the other, or that he had supposed the other had, or would, perform it.
- 586, 587, 587*a*. Revises the whole of Title XI of Part IV of Division First of the Civil Code, respecting mining corporations. Sections 586 and 587 are not changed, but simply reenacted. Section 587*a* contains substantially the matter in the old section 361, the word "corporations" being substituted for "companies," and the words "and to cause notice of the time and place fixed for such meeting to be mailed to each stockholder of each of such corporations at his last known place of residence or business at least ten days before the time fixed for such meeting" being inserted. The matter added is designed to provide the mode in which notices may be served on stockholders.
- 588, 589, 590. The statute of 1873-4, page 866, as amended in 1880, page 34, and 1897, page 38, is codified in the above sections, the only substantial change made being in the omission of the proviso in section 1 of the amendatory act of 1897, limiting its provisions to corporations "whose stock is listed and offered for sale at public exchange." The provisions of the part of the section omitted are unconstitutional. (See Johnston v. Tautphaus, 127 Cal. 604.)
- 591, 592, 592*a*, 592*b*, 592*c*, 592*d*, 592*e*. Add a new title to the Code, designated "Corporations for the Formation of Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade, Mechanics' Institutes, and other Kindred Organizations," the matter contained in said chapter being a codification of the statute of 1865-6, page 469, as amended in 1867-8, page 5, and 1885, page 76, respecting chambers of commerce.
593. The change consists in substituting the word "title" for the word "part," the last word in the section.
- 607, 607*a*, 607*b*, 607*c*, 607*d*, 607*e*, 607*f*, 607*g*. The subject-matter of the above sections is taken from the statute of 1873-4, page 499, as amended in 1901, page 285, and 1903, page 69—to prevent cruelty to animals; the statute of 1875-6, page 830, relating to the incorporation of societies for the prevention of cruelty to children; the statute of 1877-8, page 812, for the protection of children; and the statute of 1877-8, page 813, relating to children. Section 1 of the act of 1875-6, page 830, is codified in section 607. Subdivision 7 of section 2 of the same act is codified in section 607*a*, and section 3 in section 607*b*. Section 607*c* is a codification of section 4 of the act of 1875-6, page 830, and section 4 of the act of 1873-4, page 499. Section 5 of the act of 1875-6, page 830, is codified in section 607*d*; and section 14 of the act of 1873-4, page 499, as amended in 1903, page 69, and section 5 of the act of 1877-8, page 813, are consolidated and codified in section 607*e*. Section 5 of the act of 1873-4, page 499, as amended in 1901, page 285, is codified in section 607*f*, and section 3 of the act of 1877-8, page 812, is codified in section 607*g*, with the exception of subdivision 5 thereof, which is an addition thereto, to cover the matters referred to in the act of 1877-8, page 813.

SECTION.

- 629, 630, 630a, 631, 632. The purpose of the amendment is to make the above sections applicable to electric as well as to gas-light corporations. To accomplish this, the following changes have been made: In section 629 the words "or direct or primary wire" are inserted after "main," and the words "or electricity" are inserted in two places after "gas." Section 630a is a new section, to extend the provisions of the chapter "Electric Light Companies," and provide for advances similar to those made to gas companies by subscribers. In section 631 the words "any owner or manager of gas or electric works, or agent of such owner or manager, exhibiting written authority, signed by such owner or manager, or" are inserted at the beginning of the section; the words "or electric light" are inserted after "gas"; the words "or electricity" are inserted after "gas," and the words "or electric meters" are inserted after "meters." In section 632 the words "or electricity" are added after "gas" in three places, and the word "wires" is inserted after "pipes."
- 638a. This section is a codification of section 19 of the statute of 1893, page 229.
- 648½. This section is no longer necessary; the statute referred to therein, to wit: that of 1877-8, page 955, having been repealed (Stats. 1897, p. 243). The section is, therefore, repealed.
- 653a. This section is a codification of that part of the statute of 1877-8, page 883, defining coöperative corporations, and the section is placed in a new title designated "Coöperative Business Corporations." That part of the statute declaring that the by-laws may provide for the number of votes to which each shareholder shall be entitled is omitted for the reason that it is special legislation, and probably unconstitutional within the decision in Krause v. Durbrow, 127 Cal. 681.
- 653b, 653c, 653d, 653e, 653f, 653g, 653h, 653i, 653j, 653k, 653l. The statute of 1895, page 221, is codified in the above sections, which are placed in a title designated "Coöperative Business Associations."
793. The words "in the district court," where they occur in the present section, are omitted.
822. A clerical error is corrected by inserting "has" after "property."
- 842, 843. The statute of 1889, page 202, relating to the protection of owners of ditches and flumes, is codified in the above sections. Section 3 of the statute is not codified for the reason that any matter in it which should be retained is fully covered by the general rules of law.
970. The amendment consists in the substitution of the words "by or under authority of the laws of the United States" after "steamers," in place of the words "under authority of the acts of congress, approved August thirteenth, eighteen hundred and fifty-two, and April twenty-ninth, eighteen hundred and sixty-four."
993. The change consists in the addition of the words "and the person transferring it may transfer with it the right of using the name under which the business is conducted." The purpose of the amendment is to authorize the transfer of the right of using the name with the transfer of the goodwill of the business.
1096. Section 1 of the statute of 1873-4, page 345, relating to conveyances of real estate, is codified in the above section. The rest of the statute should be added to the Political Code.
1161. The change consists in the substitution of the words "the person executing the same in behalf of the corporation" in place of "its president or secretary." The reason for the amendment is that an instrument may be executed on behalf of a corporation by an officer or person other than its president or secretary, when authorized by its board of directors. The section as it heretofore stood appeared to sanction its execution by those officers only.
1181. The change consists in the substitution of the word "township" for "district" before "for."
1185. The change consists in the substitution of the words "person who executed it on behalf of the corporation," in place of "president or secretary of such corporation." (See note to section 1161.)
1190. The change consists in the substitution of the words "the person (or officer) who executed the within instrument on behalf of the corporation therein named," in place of the words "the president (or the secretary) of the corporation that executed the within instrument." (See note to section 1161.)
1202. The change consists in the substitution of the word "superior" for "district," before "court."
1203. The change consists in the substitution of the word "superior" in the place of "district," before "court."
1218. This is a new section. It is self-explanatory.

SECTION.

1263. The change consists in the insertion of the words, "and if the claimant is married the name of the spouse," after "family."
- 1269a, 1269b, 1269c. The statute of 1873-4, page 582, relating to homesteads belonging to insane persons, is codified in the above sections, which are placed in a new chapter, entitled "Alienation of Homesteads of Insane Persons."
1275. The change consists in the insertion of the word "that" before "corporation," and in the insertion of the words "counties, municipal corporations and corporations" after "that." The amendment in substance incorporates into the section the provisions of the act of 1881, page 2, authorizing the several counties, cities and counties, cities and towns, of the state, to receive property by gift, bequest and devise.
1276. The change consists in the substitution of the words "the same" in place of "his name" after "sign." The purpose of the amendment is to avoid the strict construction given to subdivision 4 in Estate of Walker, 110 Cal. 387.
1285. The change consists in the insertion of all the matter after the word "chapter," the purpose being merely to state what has always been understood to be the rule in this state respecting bequests of personal property, viz: that it may be bequeathed in accordance with the law of the testator's domicile.
1300. The change consists in the omission of the word "unmarried" before "women." The purpose of the amendment is to apply the same rule to wills executed by married and unmarried women with respect to the revocation by subsequent marriage.
1306. The change consists in the addition of the last sentence, and is intended to change the rule of Smith v. Olmstead, 83 Cal. 582.
1307. The change consists in the addition of the last sentence. (See note to preceding section.)
1327. The change consists in the addition of the clause following the word "intention," and provides that the words in a will need not be taken in a technical sense, if it appears to have been drawn by the testator, and that he was unacquainted with such sense.
1364. The change consists in the transposition of the words "within four years after the devisor's death," by striking them out at the end of the section, where they now appear, and placing them after the word "unless."
1376. The change consists in the addition of the clause following the word "state," and has been rendered necessary by the proposed amendment to section 1285.
1386. In 1905 a clerical error was corrected by renumbering the subdivisions, and certain errors of grammar were corrected. The words "or grandchild" were inserted after "child"; the words "nor the child or grandchild of a deceased brother or sister" were inserted after "sister"; the words "children of such deceased spouse and the descendants thereof, and if none, then to," were also inserted. In the second line of subdivision 8, the word "issue" was substituted for "kindred," and the subdivision amended to overcome such cases as Estate of McCauley, 138 Cal. 546. Upon further consideration the section, as thus amended, being deemed to be still unsatisfactory, it was again amended in 1907 by entirely recasting subdivision 8.
1388. The amendment consists in declaring that if an illegitimate child has been legitimated, his estate on his death is succeeded to as if he were born in wedlock.
1395. The change consists in the substitution of the words "other heirs" for "other lineal descendants," and in the substitution of "heirs" for "issue."
1399. The change consists in the substitution of the words "other heir" for "other lineal descendant" before "receiving," and in the substitution of "heirs" for "issue" after "leaving."
1405. The change consists in the substitution of the words "superior court" for "district court" before "or," and in the substitution of the words "he appears in the court in which such information was filed and asks for a judgment or order entitling him thereto," in place of the words "proof to the satisfaction of the state comptroller and treasurer be produced that he is entitled to succession thereto." The design of the amendment is to require the proof of the right to succession to be made in court instead of vesting the controller and treasurer with power to determine the question.
1406. This section is recast to conform to the proposed amendment to the last section.
1409. This is a new section, and is limited to cases where a conviction for murder has been had.
1468. This is a new section, and is designed to remove any doubt that covenants of the kind mentioned therein run with the land.

SECTION.

1624. The change consists in the addition of subdivision 7. The cases in which it is sought to establish by parol evidence alleged agreements to provide for a person by will are becoming so numerous as to warrant the assumption that the reasons inducing the original enactment of the statute of frauds apply with especial force to agreements of this class and that they ought to be brought within that statute.
1625. The change consists in the omission of the word "oral" before "negotiations."
1828. A new section, added to protect banks in paying joint accounts to survivors, in due course of business, without waiting for any authorization of court.
- 1858, 1858a, 1858b, 1858c, 1858d, 1858e, 1858f. The statute of 1877-8, page 949, relating to warehousemen's and wharfingers' receipts, is codified in the above sections.
1865. The section is amended to incorporate therein the provisions, upon the same subject, of sections 3136, 3137, and 3138 of the Political Code.
1871. The section is amended to incorporate therein the provisions of sections 3139, 3140, and 3141 of the Political Code.
1929. The change consists in the substitution of the words "want of ordinary care" for "ordinary negligence."
1930. The change consists in the substitution of the words "he is liable to the letter for all damages resulting from such use, or the letter," in place of the words "the letter who is responsible for its safety during such use in all events, or."
1932. The change consists in the substitution of the words "want of ordinary care" for "ordinary negligence."
2161. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or telephone" after "telegraph" in two places, thus making the section applicable to both telegraph and telephone companies.
2180. The change consists in the substitution of the word "need" for "may." The present section would seem to prohibit a carrier by stage from receiving more than sixty pounds of luggage, wherein it was manifestly intended only to relieve him, at his election, from receiving a greater amount.
2195. The change consists in the substitution of the words "want of ordinary care" for "ordinary negligence."
2236. The change consists in the addition of the words "and for the value of its use" after "events."
2334. The change consists in the substitution of the words "want of ordinary care" for "ordinary negligence."
2541. The change consists in the addition of the clause following "mortgagee," and is designed to authorize a mortgagee in whose favor insurance is effected, to perform for the mortgagor any acts to be performed by him, with the same effect as if performed by the mortgagor.
2903. The change consists in the addition of the clause after the word "foreclosed." The design of the amendment is to state and apply the rule of equity in such cases, it being feared that the declaration of a similar rule in section 2904, and its omission in this section might lead to doubt.
2913. The change consists in the substitution of the word "value" for "a good consideration" after "for."
2973. This section merely declares the law already existing upon the subject. It is deemed proper to have the same expressed in the Code.
3061. The statute of 1885, page 109, concerning liens in favor of persons working on threshing machines, is codified in this section.
- 3062, 3063, 3064. The statute of 1891, page 90, is codified in the above sections.
3065. So much of the statute of 1877-8, page 747, as amended in 1880, page 38, 1887, page 53, relating to loggers' liens, as is deemed necessary to be preserved, is codified in the above section.
3131. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or his agent" after "holder." The design of the amendment is to conform the section in this respect to section 3136.
3176. The change consists in the insertion of the word "cannot" after "residence," to correct a manifest error.
3197. The change consists in the omission of the words "or other good consideration," as they occur after "value." The presence of these words implies that a consideration other than "for value" may support a promise in writing to accept a bill. Such is not intended to be the law.
3235. The change consists in the substitution of the word "a" for "any" before "person"; in the omission of the words "but in any of the other states west of the Rocky Mountains" after "state"; in the omission of the third subdivision; and in the renumbering of the fourth subdivision rendered necessary thereby. The old section divided for its purposes that part of the United States not included within this state into two parts, viz: the states west, and the states east, of the Rocky Mountains, thus

SECTION.

- apparently ignoring the states now existing situated partly on each side of those mountains. It has seemed best to abolish the distinction altogether and to provide a uniform rate of damage for all the states, irrespective of their position with reference to those mountains.
3294. The change consists in the substitution of the words "express or implied" for "actual or presumed," and in the substitution of the words "the plaintiff, in addition to the actual damages, may recover," in place of the words "the jurors, in addition to actual damages, may give." As the section now stands it appears to apply to jury trials only. This, of course, was not the intention of the legislature.
- 3346a. The new section incorporates into this code the principle now declared in section 3344 of the Political Code.
3366. The change consists in the substitution of the words "as provided by the laws of this state," in place of the words "in the cases specified in this title and in no others." The purpose is to enlarge the scope of the section.
3451. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or creditors or to some other person or persons in trust for such particular creditor or creditors" after "creditor." The rule stated in the section as amended by the addition of the clause above quoted is the rule heretofore enforced in this state (Lawrence v. Neff, 41 Cal. 566; Hendley v. Pfister, 39 Cal. 283; Priest v. Brown, 100 Cal. 626); but some doubt had been cast upon the subject by the later case of Sabachi v. Chase, 108 Cal. 81.

CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE.

SECTION.

10. Merely adds the Saturday half-holiday sentence, in order to make this section correspond to the amendment adopted to section 10 of the Political Code in 1905 and section 7 of the Civil Code in 1907.
115. Repealed, as it related wholly to prosecution of public offenses, and its provisions were incorporated in the Penal Code, section 1425, as amended in 1905.
134. The amendment recast the section, substituting the words "on any of the holidays mentioned in section 10," instead of attempting to mention the holidays, which are always changing. The amendments are designed to conform to the section in the Constitution. (See Reclamation District v. Hamilton, 112 Cal. 610.)
135. The amendment changes the phraseology of the section to conform with section 10 and with the amendments made to section 134.
139. The change strikes out the words "for one week." Neither the sheriff nor the clerk can, under the Constitution, be authorized to adjourn court, and thus close it for a definite time, other than from day to day.
140. Repealed, because both unnecessary and unconstitutional.
144. The amendment consists in the insertion of the word "county" in place of "city and county," where those last words occur in the section, and in omitting the words "city and county" when they occur earlier in the section, they being unnecessary in view of the amendment to section 17 adopted in 1903 (Stats. 1903, page 134).
230. The amendment consists in changing the word "if" to "of," to correct an error.
248. A new section settling the practice with reference to panels of jurors in the superior court in counties having two or more judges of that court.
387. The amendment consists in adding the words, "within ten days from the service thereof, if served within the county wherein said action is pending, or within thirty days if served elsewhere," thus removing any ambiguity respecting the time within which the complaint in intervention must be answered.
388. The words "and the individual property of the party or parties served with process" have been added, thus avoiding multiplicity of suits.
389. The words "or to determine conflicting claims thereto" have been added, thus authorizing the bringing in of new parties in actions to determine conflicting claims of real or personal property, and thus avoiding multiplicity of actions.
392. The former provision at the end of the section, that if in an action to recover real property an injunction is at any time applied for, the proper county for the trial is that in which the defendant resides, is omitted. The old provision is inconsistent with section 5 of Article VI of the Constitution, requiring actions of this character to be brought in the county in which the property, or some part thereof, is situated.
394. The word "citizen" is stricken out, and the word "residence" is inserted, that having been the legislative intent in the original enactment of the section.

SECTION.

- 395. The last sentence of this section has been added, and the amendment thereby made is intended to reach cases where a person has been made a defendant solely for the purpose of having an action tried in the county wherein he resides, thus taking away from the defendant properly joined and from the real defendants the rights of change of venue intended to be vouchsafed to them in other sections of the Code.
- 396. The words "appears and" are omitted before the word "answers," as superfluous.
- 397. Subdivision 4 is so amended that there need not be any change from the place of trial, if there is any judge within the county not disqualified from acting. This was certainly the real legislative intent.
- 422. The amendments add subdivisions 3 and 4, in each instance.
- 427. The amendment consists in the addition of subdivision 8.
- 430. The words "or not separately stated" have been added to subdivision 5.
- 431. The word "or" is changed to the word "and," after the word "therein."
- 439. The causes of action, with respect to which the defendant is obliged to assert a counterclaim, are limited to those arising out of the transaction set forth in the complaint.
- 442. The phrase "to the action" is inserted after the word "party."
- 443. The time within which the plaintiff may demur to the answer is more definitely and clearly fixed by the amendment.
- 444. The words "or not separately stated" have been added to subdivision 1.
- 446. The words "where the attorney has his office" have been substituted for the words "where the attorney resides," and the last sentence has been added.
- 459. The words "or an ordinance of a county or municipal corporation" have been added in the first sentence, and the whole of the second sentence has been added, the latter amendment being made on the suggestion of the attorney-general.
- 525. The words "when granted" substituted for "when made."
- 526. Subdivisions 2 and 3 have been amended so as to permit the application for an injunction to be made by parties to the action other than plaintiff, and the provisions of sections 3422 and 3423 of the Civil Code have been added to the section.
- 527. The amendment permits the issuing of the injunction upon a verified complaint at any time before judgment, instead of restricting the time to the issuing of the summons, and also permits the injunction to remain in force for a longer period than twelve months, if, within that time, the party in whose favor it is granted seeks to have the cause set for trial, and the failure to set it was not due to his fault.
- 529. The amendments to this section were rendered necessary by the amendments made to subdivisions 2 and 3 of section 526.
- 530. The section is amended to conform to the amendments made to subdivisions 2 and 3 of section 526. Also, the words "diversion, diminution or increase of the flow of water in its natural channels, to the ordinary flow to which the plaintiff claims to be entitled, the court shall first require due notice of the application to be served upon the defendant, and upon the hearing thereof," have been substituted for the words "diversion pending the litigation, of water used or to be used for irrigation or domestic purposes only." The latter amendment was offered and adopted upon the floor of the Assembly on March 4, 1907, and was a member's amendment.
- 531. The words "except by the court or a judge thereof; nor can it be granted" are omitted, as entirely superfluous.
- 532. See first portion of note to section 530.
- 539. The amendment makes the sureties answerable if the attachment is discharged on the ground that the plaintiff was not entitled thereto under section 537, and permits the defendant to except to the sufficiency of the sureties at any time after the issuing of the attachment not later than five days after actual notice of the levy.
- 553. The amendment consists in adding the words "and no appeal is perfected and undertaking executed and filed as provided in section nine hundred and thirty-seven," it being intended by this amendment and a proposed amendment to section 937 that an attachment should be left in force pending an appeal, though defendant had recovered judgment, if the plaintiff gave the required undertaking. The legislature failed, however, to pass the proposed amendment to section 937, so the above-mentioned amendment has no present effect.
- 554. The amendment fixes the time within which the sureties must justify, if required by the plaintiff.
- 555. The words "not exceeding the amount of such judgment" have been inserted.
- 560. New section. The statute did not heretofore provide any method of releasing, without application to the court, an attachment upon real property. As it is desired to make such releases expeditiously in many instances, although the action is not dismissed or terminated, this amendment provides such mode of release.

SECTION.

566. The words "of a party" are added after the word "attorney" and the word "must" is substituted for the word "may" before the word "require," such changes having been made to conform to the section to the intent of the legislature in the passage of the original section.
567. The word "one" is changed to "two," thus requiring two sureties, and making it uniform with other provisions of this code respecting sureties, and the undertaking with respect to form is left subject to the control of section 982 of the Political Code.
572. The words "to the action" are added after the word "party," as in its present form the section is entirely misleading.
573. The amendment consists in consolidating sections 573 and 2104, there being two sections covering the same subject, where only one is needed, and omits the first sentence of the former section, so as to remove any possible conflict between them.
581. The amendment to subdivision 3 authorizes the plaintiff, as well as the defendant, to ask for the dismissal of an action if his adversary does not appear at the trial. Subdivision 6, concerning the dismissal of an action because the party entitled to judgment neglects to make demand therefor within six months, is omitted, because the changes made in section 664 require the judgment to be entered by the clerk without any demand by either party. The matters contained in former subdivision 7 are, with certain changes, embraced in the new section 581a.
- 581a. A new section containing the matter in subdivision 7 of former section 581, but excepting from its operation those cases in which effective judgment can not be recovered against a defendant, when the failure to serve process upon him has been due either to his secreting himself within the state, or to absenting himself therefrom to prevent such service.
582. Amendment rendered necessary by addition of last section to the code.
585. Amendments simply change the verb to the indicative, to conform to same change elsewhere.
602. The amendment adds to the section subdivisions 8 and 9, and to subdivisions 2 and 3 the words "or to an officer of a corporation which is a party."
615. The amendment consists in inserting after "other jurors" the words "with the consent of the parties."
641. After the word "party" in subdivision 2 are inserted the words "or to an officer of a corporation which is a party."
647. The amendment consists in inserting the words "modifying, giving, or refusing to give, in whole or in part, an instruction to the jury."
649. The amendment substitutes the words "within ten days after" for "at the time."
650. The changes add the words "at any time thereafter, and" before the words "within ten days," add the words "and proceedings" after "exceptions," and also add the words "It may also contain a statement of any matters occurring upon the trial, in the presence of the court, showing any of the matters in subdivisions one and two of section six hundred and fifty-seven of this code." These amendments permit the bill of exceptions as to any matter occurring at the trial to be tendered before the entry of the judgment, and to contain, when presented, a statement of any matter occurring at the trial in the presence of the court mentioned in subdivisions 1 and 2 of section 657. A provision is also added providing the time within which the settled bill must be engrossed, and for its service on the adverse party.
651. The word "or" is substituted for "and" after the words "six hundred and forty-nine."
652. Substitutes the words "a bill of exceptions" for the words "an exception."
656. The meaning of the section is not changed by the amendment.
659. The amendment fixes the notice of the entry of a judgment as the period from which to compute the time for moving for a new trial.
660. The amendment permits reference to be had to any certified transcript of the reporter's notes on the hearing of the motion, whether on file or not.
- 663a. Renumbered thus instead of 663½. "Rendition" is changed to entry, to correspond to the change in section 659; the last sentence of the old section is omitted; and the moving party is required to state the time when his motion will be made. The last sentence is an addition.
664. The amendment consists in the addition of the last two sentences, and requires the clerk to enter judgment immediately upon filing the decision of the court, and declares the judgment non-effectual for any purpose until so entered.
670. In subdivision 2, after the word "pleadings," the words "all orders striking out any pleading in whole or in part" are inserted, and the words "all bills of exceptions taken and filed" are omitted.

SECTION.

672. The amendment requires the date of the docketing of the judgment to appear in the docket, in order that some means shall exist for determining when the judgment lien commences. The necessity for such an amendment is made apparent by the decision in Menzies v. Watson, 105 Cal. 109.
674. The amendment consists in the addition of the words "the enforcement of which has not been stayed on appeal."
681. The amendment consists in adding all after the words "enforcement." The justice of the amendment is self-evident.
687. The amendment is directed to those cases in which a judgment is entered in one county affecting property then situated in, or which may subsequently become a part of, another county. The section as amended supersedes the provisions of the statute of 1873-4, page 365, respecting execution of final process.
688. The amendment consists in substituting the words "levied upon or released" for the word "attached," thus providing a mode of releasing a levy of execution. It adopts the method proposed for the release of attachments by section 560.
689. The amendment strikes out the words "setting out his title thereto," which subserve no useful purpose, and also inserts the amount of the undertaking near the end of the section "in a sum equal to double the value of the property levied on," which is the usual custom of sheriffs any way, and recasts the last sentence so as to make it more intelligible.
700. The present section 700 of the Code of Civil Procedure is split into two sections, 700 and 700a. All of section 700 after the word "thereto" is an addition thereto, and declares the effect of a sale of real property under execution, and that, when supported by a judgment lien or the levy of a writ, the title of the holder relates back to the date of such lien or levy. This simply codifies the present law on the subject under the decision of the Supreme Court. The part of the section omitted is made a new section, to be numbered 700a.
- 700a. The only thing in this section is the requirement that the certificate of search shall include a statement of the date of the judgment and of the names of the parties thereto; the remainder of the change simply consists in recasting into more concise form what is clumsily expressed in the original section.
714. The words "or in which he has a place of business" are added to the section, thus making it possible to examine judgment debtors in supplementary proceedings in those counties in which they have a place of business.
717. The word "and" is substituted for "or" after "judgment" and before "upon," to make the section conform to what was evidently the intent of the legislature at the time of its passage.
719. The amendment consists in adding the last clause, thus limiting the right of the judge or referee to order the delivery of property to those cases in which no adverse interest is claimed thereto.
720. The amendment consists in striking out the words "the court or judge may authorize by an order made to that effect," thus enabling the judgment creditor to sue for property to be subject to his execution without first obtaining an order of court.
740. The word "real" is omitted before the word "property," the amendment thus extending the benefit of the section to all classes of property.
749. This section is hereby repealed because it has been made superfluous by the late amendments to section 412 of the Code of Civil Procedure. Moreover, there are two sections 749 in the code, one enacted in 1891 and the other in 1900. They do not supersede each other under the principle of Ex parte Ruffin, 119 Cal. 487. The superfluous one is here repealed, leaving the other in force.
753. Omits the words "specifically and particularly," so that a general statement of the interests of the respective parties will be sufficient.
756. Simplifies the summons in partition, so as to make it clear that it need not be directed to "persons unknown," when the complaint refers to known persons only.
758. The amendment provides that if the defendant fails to answer within the time allowed by law, he is deemed to admit and adopt the allegations of the complaint, thus excusing the defendant from alleging his interest by way of answer, if the complaint sufficiently discloses such interest.
759. Substituting the words "sale can be ordered" in place of "judgment of sale can be made," and omitting the requirement that proof must be made of the title of absent and unknown parties before judgment can be entered, to avoid the conflict between this section and section 774, referred to in Grant v. Murphy, 116 Cal. 433.

SECTION.

761. Omitting after "court" the words "by the certificate of the county recorder or of the county clerk, or by the sworn or verified statement of any person who may have searched the records," leaving the existence of the liens to be established by any competent evidence.
763. The changes are omitting the words "If it be alleged in the complaint and established by evidence, or if it appear by the evidence without such allegation in the complaint to the satisfaction of the court," and substituting therefor, "If it appears by the evidence, whether alleged in the complaint or not"; and inserting the matter in former section 797, authorizing the court to appoint one referee instead of three.
764. The amendment consists in declaring what shall be the duties of the referees, instead of requiring those duties to be inserted in each decree.
765. The amendment consists in declaring that either party may, upon ten days' notice to the others, move to confirm, change, modify or set aside the report.
766. The amendment consists of the last sentence, providing that a grantee of lands pending the suit takes the part set aside to his grantor.
774. The words "whether known or unknown" are substituted for "and who are known," to avoid the difficulty suggested in Grant v. Murphy, 116 Cal. 433.
775. "Published" is changed to "given," thus requiring the notice of a sale in partition to be the same as when under execution.
784. The amendment adds the last sentence, providing that the purchaser at a partition sale or any party to the suit may move to confirm or vacate it, and the notice to be given of the motion.
785. The amendment adds the last sentence, giving referees who have sold property in partition the right to sue for the amount of the bid, or to make a resale and recover the amount of deficiency, if any.
795. Repealed, because it authorized guardians of infants and insane persons to consent to partitions without any action, and did not provide for any notice of the proceedings to be given either to the persons or their relatives, or otherwise.
797. Repealed, because its provisions have been included in the amendment to section 763.
799. The amendment corrects an error by striking out the word "produced" and inserting the word "procured."
803. The amendment suggested by the commissioner simply added to the original section as it was enacted March 11, 1872, the following sentence: "And if it is claimed that a corporation, either de jure or de facto, is exercising a franchise which it is not authorized to exercise, or is exercising corporate functions when not authorized to do so, such corporation must be made a party defendant." This was struck out on the floor of the senate January 31, 1907, and the following inserted after the word "franchise," where it first appears: "or against any corporation, either de jure or de facto, which usurps, intrudes into, or unlawfully holds or exercises any franchise."
832. Amendment simply changes the verb to the transitive mood, present tense, where it occurs otherwise in the original section.
- 836, 837. The amendment incorporates into section 836 the matters in former section 837, and repeals 837, thus avoiding the conflict previously existing between these two sections.
845. The amendment consists in striking out the words "the summons must contain a direction that the defendant must appear and answer the complaint," formerly in subdivision 2.
848. The amendment consists in recasting the form of the section, and changing the matter covered by subdivision 2, so as to substitute for the words "the county where he resides" the words "any county wherein he may be found." The matter covered by subdivisions 4 and 5 in the new form of section is entirely new matter.
855. The words "or his assignor" are inserted after the word "plaintiff."
866. The amendment omits "and before answer" after the word "summons," to bring the section into harmony with section 537.
867. The last sentence is added, to provide for the exception to, and justification by, sureties or undertakings in attachments in justices' courts.
887. The amendment requires the same proceeding to deny the genuineness of a written instrument when made part of an answer as when part of a complaint in a justice's court.
892. The amendment permits the judgment in justices' courts to be entered "at any time within ten days after submission" instead of "at the close of the trial."
893. The meaning of the section is not changed, but superfluous portions are omitted, and the last sentence is added.
895. Amended so as to allow plaintiff to recover costs up to the time defendant allows judgment to be taken.

SECTION.

905. The amendment inserts the words "whenever the writ is directed to a constable," and adds the last sentence, authorizing the filing of an abstract of the judgment in the office of the justice of any town, township, or city where the defendant resides, and the issuing of execution thereon.
906. Subdivision 6 is added by the amendment.
- 941a, 941b, 941c. These are entirely new provisions prescribing an alternative method of taking appeals to the supreme court or district courts of appeal.
- 953a, 953b, 953c. These three sections provide for a new and alternative method for the preparation of records to be used on appeals from judgments, orders or decrees of the superior court to the supreme court or district courts of appeal.
954. Amend the section so as to extend the power with respect to the acceptance of bonds to district courts of appeal.
992. The amendment consists in striking out the words "except a discharge from such liability by the statute of limitations," and the end thereof, and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "by reason of any defense existing at the commencement of the action." This removes the prohibition against the pleading of the statute of limitations if that defense existed at the commencement of the action.
993. The amendment consists in adding at the end of the present section the words "subject to the right of the parties to amend their pleadings as in other cases," thus entitling the parties to amend their pleadings as in other cases and changing the rule adopted in Waterman v. Lippman, 67 Cal. 26.
1005. The amendment allows the notice of motion to be for five days whenever the court is held in the county in which one of the attorneys has his office. This is the rule of court already adopted in most jurisdictions of the superior court, and the amendment makes the practice uniform throughout the state.
1010. Requires the notice to state when, and the grounds and papers upon which, the motion will be made. Codifies what the actual practice is to-day, and what is generally provided for in rules of court.
1011. Changes the hours during which notice may be served at an attorney's office in his absence, so that the hours shall be from nine to five instead of from eight to six; excuses the leaving of papers at an attorney's residence if in a county other than that of his office; provides means of service when his residence is in another county, or when neither his office nor his residence is known.
1013. Directs that notices deposited in the postoffice be enclosed in sealed envelopes, and substitutes "thirty" for "ninety" in the last line.
1015. The amendment adds the last two sentences and is intended to supply a mode of serving notices and papers when the attorney for a party has been removed or suspended or has no known office within the state.
1055. The amendment extends the provisions of the section to all persons entitled to rely upon bonds of indemnity, instead of restricting such provisions to the sheriff, as in the present section.
1057. The change consists in the addition of the last two sentences, and authorizes the court to exact a new undertaking in any case in which it is shown that any surety on a bond has become insufficient, thus avoiding all possible doubt of the court's power in the premises.
1069. Substitutes "verified petition" for "an affidavit."
1086. Substitutes "verified petition" for "an affidavit" in proceedings by certiorari.
1087. Excuses the clerk on issuing a writ of mandate from inserting therein the allegations of the petition.
1088. Requires a copy of the petition for a writ of mandate to be served with the alternative writ, or with the notice of application for the peremptory writ. This codifies what is the present practice, and makes it uniform instead of confining it to such superior courts as have embodied it in their rules.
1089. The form but not the substance of the section has been changed, and the sense made clearer thereby.
1103. Substitutes "verified petition" for "an affidavit."
1104. Same character of change as in section 1087.
1115. Substitutes "twenty" for "forty," and strikes out "the return day of the election," and inserts "declaration of the result of the election by the body canvassing the returns thereof." In Carlson v. Burt, 111 Cal. 129, it was held that the words "return day of the election" meant the day on which by law the canvass of the vote commences. The result of that construction is, that if the canvass is sufficiently prolonged, no contest can be initiated. As the whole title refers to contesting the right of persons "declared elected," the time should run from that declaration. If that be

SECTION.

- so, forty days is too long, and twenty ample. There were two amended sections 1115, both absolutely the same in the above respects, inadvertently passed at the session of 1907, one approved March 19, 1907 (1907:642), the other approved March 23, 1907 (1907:912). The last sentence of the latter, which was suggested by the commissioner, is slightly different from the former. These two sections should be amalgamated in the session of 1909.
1118. There were two amended sections 1118 passed at the session of 1907, one approved March 18, 1907 (1907:564), suggested by the commissioner, the latter approved March 19, 1907 (1907:643). In the first the words "a special session" are eliminated, there being, under the Constitution, no special sessions of the superior court. The latter amendment, however, is the last expression of the intent of the legislature. These two sections should be amalgamated in the session of 1909.
1124. Provides for contest of the result when the canvassing board has declared that a tie exists between candidates. Two sections 1124, almost identical in words, were passed at the session of 1907, one approved March 19, 1907 (1907:678), and the other approved March 23, 1907 (1907:913), the latter at the suggestion of the commissioner. The first should be repealed.
1126. There were two amended sections 1126 passed at the session of 1907, the one approved March 19, 1907 (1907:649), the other approved March 23, 1907 (1907:913). The latter, which was suggested by the commissioner, inserts the words "within thirty days after notice of entry thereof," to make the practice definite. The first should be repealed.
- 1166, 1167, 1175. "Verified" is substituted for "in writing," and section 1175 thus made unnecessary, and the provisions respecting summons are omitted from section 1166, that subject being left to the control of the general law and of section 1167, which has been itself revised.
1184. Excuses the clerk on issuing a writ of prohibition from inserting therein the allegations of the petition.
- 1204-1207. Have been rewritten and 1208 added, because the first four sections were ambiguous and carelessly drawn. Nothing new is intended by the chapter. It having been noticed too late for correction that a section 1208 had been added to this code at the session of 1905 (1905:632), the section 1208 passed at the session of 1907 should be re-numbered 1207a. The section 1208 which had been passed in 1905 was merely a codification of the provisions concerning foreclosure of liens in the statutes of 1873-4, page 499, and 1901, page 287, relating to cruelty to animals, the penal features whereof have already been codified in the Penal Code and the civil features into the Civil Code.
1209. In subdivision 4 "deceit" is omitted, and in place thereof are substituted the words "falsely pretending to act under authority of an order or process of court." From subdivision 12 has been omitted the sentence "Disobedience of the lawful orders or process of a judicial officer is also a contempt of the authority of such officer." This matter is already covered by sections 177 and 178, and subdivision 13 has been added.
1210. Substitutes "or to his lessee, grantee, or successor in interest" for "or to his lessor or grantor."
1228. The amendment is in subdivision 1 and substitutes the words "vote of two thirds of the members or of the holders of two thirds of the subscribed capital stock," for the ambiguous words in the former statute, the words in the quotation marks being what was really intended by the legislature.
1230. To provide for the notice to be given, and by whom, in proceedings for the voluntary dissolution of corporations.
1232. The amendment consists in the addition of the last sentence, requiring a certified copy of the decree to be recorded in the office of the secretary of state.
1234. The word "unknown," substituted for the word "known," to correct a manifest error.
1269. The word "possessed" has been substituted for the word "seized," after the words "person last." The words "claimant and possessor" have been substituted for the word "person," after the words "summons must be issued to said." The words "prior to the expiration of such time" are inserted before the words "be published." The desirability of these changes are manifest. They require the summons, when an estate is claimed to have escheated, to be directed to the claimant and to the occupant, and make the publication sufficient if for one month prior to the hearing.
1270. The words "of such estate or any part thereof," after the word "charge," are added, it being evident that if a receiver is to take charge the relief should be complete and he should not be confined simply to the right to receive rents.

SECTION.

1271. The words "is the owner of the property" are substituted for the words "be seized." The word "properly" is substituted for the words "land and tenements." The words "is the owner and entitled to the possession thereof" are inserted in place of the words "be seized thereof." The words "who have appeared and answered" are inserted after the word "defendants," in order to compel the dismissal of such defendants as have not appeared and answered. The words "property, unless it consists of money," are substituted for the words "real property," in order to include all kinds of property, real, personal, and mixed, except money. The word "or" is substituted for the word "and," to correct an evident mistake. The words "of ten per cent," after the word "offer," are stricken out, thus re-opening the bidding and preventing the necessary escheating to the state if any amount in excess is bid.
1272. Omits the words "married woman" and "or persons beyond the limits of the United States," from the saving clause.
1279. The change compels the filing in the office of the secretary of state of a certified copy of the decree of court, changing the name of a person or corporation, instead of the former method of making return to that office, a method which experience had shown to be impossible of enforcement, making the section uniform with the provisions of section 300a of the Civil Code, added in 1903.
1300. The word "legatees" is inserted after the word "heirs." Inasmuch as the devisees are already named in the statute, there is no question but that the word "legatees" was omitted through oversight.
1323. The words "clerk of the court" are substituted for "court or judge," making the section correspond to the practice set forth in section 1303 of the Code of Civil Procedure.
1328. The words "of a regular term" are omitted because there are no terms of court.
1329. The amendment strikes out the words "personal service of the citation having been made upon any" and inserts in lieu thereof "proof having been made of service of the citation upon all of the."
1349. The words "who must appear and qualify" toward the end of the section, are omitted, and in their place are inserted "unless they or either of them have renounced their rights to letters, and if no." At the end of the section has been added the following: "In the order, the court must ascertain and determine whether said estate is worth more or less than ten thousand dollars, which determination is conclusive for the purpose of giving notice to creditors, but for no other purpose." The object of this last amendment is to require the court to find the value of the estate for the sole purpose of fixing the time for which notice to creditors must be given.
1350. The final clause respecting the renouncement by executors was omitted and the matter provided for in new section 1350a.
- 1350a. See note to section 1350.
1351. The words "estate or" are inserted before "will," the reason being self-evident.
1365. The amendment merely adds the last section in order to make the section conform to the final amendments to subdivision 8 of section 1386 of the Civil Code.
1371. The amendment consists in omitting, after the word "petition," the following: "and are afterward proved in the course of administration," and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "and are proved at the hearing."
1417. The amendment is contained in the last sentence. As the law now stands, the compensation of a special administrator can not be fixed until the final settlement of the estate, which may be, and often is, years after his services have been completed.
1423. Omits the provision that upon the admission of a will to probate the powers of the administrator cease. It is misleading, as the power continues until his letters are revoked, under section 1428 of the same code.
1431. Inserts the words "the same" before "jurisdiction," to correct a clerical error.
1432. Substitutes "hereinbefore" in place of "hereinafter," to correct a manifest error.
1436. Inserts the words "direct such executor or administrator to be cited to appear and show cause why his letters should not be revoked," and to make it clear that an executor or administrator may be cited without being first suspended.
1437. Amended to correspond to section 1436.
1445. Besides some slight changes in wording, the amendment is designed to secure greater definiteness as to the inventory of a partnership property interest.

SECTION.

1452. The word "profits" has been substituted for "forfeits," to correct an error. The sentence before the last has been added to cover cases of a class which has been before the supreme court similar to Horton v. Jack, 115 Cal. 29, where an administrator dies when nothing further remains to be done with the estate beyond distribution, and where the estate is already in the hands of the persons entitled to distribution. In such case, public administrators and others, for the sole purpose of making fees, have sued to recover the property, which has caused great and unnecessary trouble and expense.
1454. Codifies statute of February 18, 1874 (1873-4: 132), as amended in statutes of 1895, page 32.
1458. The amendment omits the word "alienates," and inserts in lieu thereof the words "conceals, smuggles, or fraudulently disposes, to make the phraseology of the section uniform with that of sections 1459 and 1460. A remedy of this kind should not be given except in cases where the action of the defendant has been fraudulent or criminal. The amendment also makes the section apply to embezzlement committed at any time, whether administration is pending or not. It would seem to be as important in the one case as in the other.
1459. Strikes out "in the latter case," thus entitling the person found innocent to recover his expenses, whether he is a non-resident of the county or not.
1460. Strikes out the provision that the order for a disclosure shall be prima facie evidence of the right of the executor or administrator to the property, and that the recovery must be for double its value; also substitutes "or fraudulently" for the words "conveyed away or." The former section was unjust and probably unconstitutional. The provision respecting double damages should be applicable only to the cases specified in section 1458 of the same code.
1466. In place of the word "amount," substitutes the word "property."
1468. Inserts the words "other than the homestead selected and recorded during the lifetime of the decedent," and substitutes the word "spouse" for the word "husband" where it occurs in the section, thus avoiding the rule affirmed in Estate of Walkerly, 108 Cal. 627, and leaving the homestead subject to administration, without, however, impairing the homestead rights.
1499. The amendment consists in adding the last sentence, taken from section 1569.
1527. By some unaccountable mistake of the legislature section 1639, which concerned sales of personal property, had been placed in the wrong chapter, to wit: that entitled "Accounting and Settlement by Executors and Administrators." It is, therefore, repealed, and a new section, 1527, containing exactly the same provisions as the old section 1639, is inserted in the proper chapter, to wit: that concerning "Sales of Personal Property."
1579. The only change consists in the substitution of the word "ten" for "five," to make this section correspond with the present form of section 718 of the Civil Code, which was amended in 1903.
1591. The amendment is contained in the last sentence. Since the decedent himself could not have recovered the property, his heirs should have no better right. In an action brought against a living person, to set aside a transfer void as to creditors, it can only be set aside so far as the claim of the creditor extends. The rule in case of deceased persons should be the same.
1592. A new section, consisting of section 1640 amended by inserting after "petition" in the last sentence the words "for not less than ten days," which section is itself repealed.
1598. Inserts after the words "petition by" the words "the executor or administrator, or by," thus authorizing him to present a petition for leave to convey property pursuant to a contract of sale made by the decedent.
1600. Strikes out at the end of the section the words "entered on the minutes of the court," this requirement being covered by the general provisions of sections 1704 and 1604 of the same code.
1607. The words "deed or transfer and" are omitted after the word "producing," to harmonize the section with section 1604 of the same code.
1612. The words "in writing" are inserted at end of section, that being the real intent.
1622. Omits the requirement for filing an exhibit six months after the appointment of an executor or administrator, and leaves such exhibit to be filed whenever the court may direct. The time should differ according to the circumstances of the estate. Thus, if the estate is worth more than ten thousand dollars, no exhibit of any value can be filed until after the ten months allowed for the presentation of claims have expired.
- 1623, 1624, 1625. Repealed, as unnecessary and inconsistent with section 1622, as amended.

SECTION.

- 1636. Adds the last sentence, entitling the party to a jury trial when an allowed claim is contested.
- 1639. This is a new section, added in 1905, the matter in the old section, 1639, having been transferred to section 1527. The new section authorizes the personal representatives of a deceased executor or administrator to present and have settled the account of such deceased. Formerly there was no way of settling such accounts except by suit in equity, which is expensive, unnecessary, and less expeditious than the mode proposed.
- 1640. Repealed, because its contents are embraced in section 1592, as amended.
- 1643. The amendment provides for liens other than those arising from mortgage, and adds the provision of the last sentence of section 1494 and the last sentence of 1496.
- 1644. Adds "or lien" after the word "mortgage."
- 1647. The section as amended applies only to the settlement of an account rendered after the expiration of the time for the presentation of claims.
- 1658. Inserts the words "or any portion thereof," to make the section agree with subdivision 2 of section 1661.
- 1660. The amendment consists in omitting the words "or any other heir, devisee or legatee may make a similar application for himself." This prevents the abuse of an heir, devisee or legatee making application at such a hearing, and having it disposed of without notice to the world.
- 1661. The section as amended consolidates present sections 1661 and 1663, both of which seem to have been designed to accomplish the same purpose.
- 1663. Repealed, because section 1661 covers the whole subject matter.
- 1665. The amendment strikes out "and the issue of other children" and inserts "or the issue of a deceased child," and also strikes out "to the other heir at law," and inserts "as provided in the Civil Code." The clause proposed to be amended is clearly in conflict with subdivision 7 of section 1386 of the Civil Code. The rule of the Civil Code is one which has existed in this state from its inception, and clearly ought to be retained. The proposed amendments make these sections harmonious.
- 1668. The amendment provides that any person interested may appear and contest a petition for distribution by filing written objections thereto.
- 1717. Inserts "and sign and file its decision in writing, as provided in sections 632 and 633. The practice with reference to the filing of written findings in the trial of issues of fact in probate, where there is no jury, should be the same as in civil actions, and the amendment codifies the decision of the supreme court with regard to that practice.
- 1733, 1734. Repealing sections 1733 and 1734, because their subject-matter is included in sections 1459 and 1460.
- 1737. The amendment strikes out the words "not required for the current expenses of the administration." Their presence in the section made it ineffective heretofore. A public administrator is a public officer, charged with the collection of moneys in the same sense that a tax collector is, and all moneys received by him ought clearly to be deposited in the treasury. Besides, this procedure is an important check upon extravagance and speculation, and should, therefore, be made mandatory.
- 1750. "Nominate" is substituted for "appoint."
- 1752. Repealed, because inconsistent with section 1753, which declares the proper rule. If a minor has a father or mother who is competent to act as guardian, the father or mother has the first right to appointment as guardian. If the father and mother are not competent to act as guardians, they are equally incompetent to have the custody of the minor or the care of his property.
- 1753. The amendment is intended to express the distinction between the guardian of the person and the guardian of the estate. As the section now stands, it purports to give like power to each.
- 1760. Adding a new section, transferring the provisions of section 255 of the Civil Code to this section, where they properly belong.
- 1763. Requires the appointment of a guardian of an insane person to be by the court, instead of by a judge, and that such person shall be a resident of the county. At the same session (1907: 996) a later amendment of the same numbered section was passed, which while it incorporated an important new provision, omitted to make the change provided in the section as suggested by the commissioner and passed first. These two sections should be amalgamated in the session of 1909.
- 1766. The word "guardian" changed to "guardianship," in the last sentence, to correct a clerical error.
- 1768. The words "in this title for the sale of real estate of decedents" are stricken out and "article four of this chapter" inserted. Article IV makes full provision for the sale of property by guardians, and contains many provisions entirely inconsistent with those provided for the sale of property

SECTION.

- of decedents. The former reference in this section was, therefore, erroneous, and might be productive of serious results. On the same day that the act making this amendment was approved, March 23, 1878, another act was signed amending the same section and incorporating back into it (1907:981) the very provisions struck out of it in the act suggested by the commissioner (1907:944).
1773. The requirement that a guardian return an annual inventory of real estate is omitted, and instead he is required to render accounts annually and at such times as the court may direct.
1774. An amendment to this section had been approved March 16, 1907 (1907:332). An act suggested by the commissioner containing a large number of amendments to other sections of the code, and containing one provision which repealed this section, for the reason that its substance was now in section 1773, was passed later in the same session, and approved March 23, 1907 (1907:944), and as the last expression of the intent of the legislature the section now stands repealed.
1776. The amendment consists of the last sentence, and is intended to establish the rule set out in the dissenting opinion in Estate of Kincaid, 120 Cal. 203. The authorities cited in that opinion show that such has always been the rule of courts of equity, and that it is a just and practicable rule, which ought to be adopted.
1793. To harmonize the section with section 1747.
1800. See note to section 1458.
1807. Strikes out "who must give a bond" and inserts "each of whom must give a separate bond," to make provisions of section uniform with those of section 1391 of the same code.
1809. Inserting "and ten hundred and fifty-six and."
- 1822, 1822a, 1822b. Repealing the old section 1822, and adding three new sections in lieu thereof, codifying the statute 1893, page 218.
- 1822c to 1822f, incl. New sections added, codifying the act of March 25, 1893 (1893:536). It was inserted here rather than in the Political Code, because it pertains wholly to "procedure necessary to accomplish the objects sought."
1915. The amended section gives full faith to foreign judgments. This also insures full credit to the judgments of our state courts in those foreign jurisdictions where such recognition of those judgments depends on reciprocal recognition. See Hilton v. Guyot, 159 U. S. 113.
1973. The amendment consists in adding subdivisions 6 and 7 thereto, and correcting the language thereof so as to make it conform absolutely to what is in the statute on frauds, as set forth in section 1624 of the Civil Code.
1986. By this amendment and the amendments to section 1991, it is intended to change the rule as to the issuance of subpoenas, so as to provide that a subpoena to give testimony by deposition must in all cases be issued by the court in which the deposition is to be used, and to provide an adequate process for the punishment of contempts committed in disobedience to a subpoena.
1991. The first part of this amendment states what was believed to be the rule as to the refusal of a witness to attend or answer upon the taking of a deposition, before the adoption of the amendment. The latter part of the amendment is new. There are very many cases under the laws of this state where officers, sometimes merely administrative officers like assessors, are authorized to compel the attendance of witnesses, but the legislature cannot constitutionally give to such an officer the power to punish for contempt. By authorizing the court to make an order compelling the witness to attend or answer, compliance can be compelled, and non-compliance lawfully punished as a contempt.
2006. The amendment expressly sanctions the taking of depositions in shorthand, which was held lawful by our supreme court in Kyle v. Craig, 125 Cal. 107. It includes the provision contained in section 2032 for the reading of the deposition to the witness and its subscription by him. That provision, as code stood before this amendment, did not apply to depositions taken out of the state, so it is here inserted in the general section.
2012. The section as it formerly stood undertook to specify the officers before whom affidavits might be taken, and manifestly omitted many of them.
2022. This is a new section intended as a substitute for the provisions of former sections 2028, 2033, and 2034. These sections were not consistent with each other, nor with section 2031, and as the rule should be general so as to apply to all depositions, it should be placed in this article rather than in either the article relating to depositions taken within the state or in that relating to those taken without the state.
2023. This is a new section providing for the taking of depositions in cases where defaults have been entered.

SECTION.

2024. The amendment strikes out "under the seal by the county clerk of such county," and inserts "of the clerk of the superior court of the county in which such justice's court is held, under the seal of such superior court."
2025. The former section was extremely meager, and the practice of different courts widely variant. The amendment frames a specific and convenient method of settling the interrogatories.
2026. The amendment provides that the depositions must in all cases be forwarded to the clerk of the court or judge.
- 2033, 2034. Both sections repealed. See note to section 2022.
2036. "Exhibiting" substituted for "producing," and the subpoena required to be issued by the court instead of by the judge.
2037. The words "and that he resides in the county in which such judge or justice holds office" have been added to subdivision 1.
2043. To the section have been added the words "but a party to the action or proceeding can not be so excluded; and if a corporation is a party thereto, it is entitled to the presence of one of its officers, to be designated by its attorney."
2054. The last clause of the present section declares an impracticable rule. It frequently happens that the testimony of several witnesses is necessary to prove the execution of a particular writing, and, under our practice, more than one witness can not be on the stand at the same time. The last clause of the amendment states the rule at common law, which, by some oversight, has up to this time been omitted from the code.
2064. "Lawfully" inserted after "control." (See Ex parte Clark, 126 Cal. 235.)
2070. Omitting, at the beginning of the section, the words "The court or officer issuing the subpoena, and."
2104. This section is repealed because there have heretofore been two sections covering the same subject which were somewhat conflicting, and the two sections have been amalgamated into section 573. See section 573.

PENAL CODE.

SECTION.

7. The purpose of the amendment is to make the section conform to the corresponding sections of the Civil Code and of the Code of Civil Procedure. The changes consist in the addition of the words "county includes city and county"; of the words "and typewriting"; and of the clause "provided, that when a signature is made by mark, it must, in order that the same may be acknowledged or serve as the signature to any sworn statement, be witnessed by two persons who must subscribe their own names as witnesses thereto." The above changes make the above section conform to the corresponding subdivision in section 17 of the Code of Civil Procedure and in section 14 of the Civil Code. The definitions of "night-time" and "day-time" are added in subdivision 13, following the definitions in sections 450 and 463 of this code, which confined the definitions to the chapters in which they occurred. The word "canal-boat" is printed "canals, boats," in the official statutes of 1873-4, page 421, amending the section, and is hereby corrected to conform to the manifest intention of the statute, and to the original form of the section as enacted in the code of 1872. Subdivision 20 is also added to correspond with a like provision in the other codes.
27. The amendment consists of a recasting of subdivision 2, designed to make it punishable in this state to embezzle money in another state and bring the money embezzled or some part of it into this state. The old section authorized the conviction and punishment of persons committing larceny or robbery outside the state, who brought the property stolen into this state, but did not extend to the case of embezzlement.
42. The amendment conforms the section to section 21 of the Purity of Elections Act (Stats. 1893, p. 12).
- 42a. This is a codification of section 22 of the Purity of Elections Act (Stats. 1893, p. 12).
45. Two clerical errors are corrected. The word "illegally," before "polled," is changed to "legally"; and the word "either" is omitted after "elector," and inserted between "ballot-box" and "before."
46. Section 24 of the Purity of Elections Act (Stats. 1893, p. 12) is here codified.
47. Section 28 of the Purity of Elections Act (Stats. 1893, p. 12) is here codified.
49. Section 42 of the Purity of Elections Act (Stats. 1893, p. 12) is here codified.
- 49a. This is the last sentence of section 1142 of the Political Code, the matter being of a nature which has an appropriate place in this code.
50. This is a codification of the first sentence of section 27 of the Purity of Elections Act (Stats. 1893, p. 12).
51. This is a codification of the second sentence of section 27 of the Purity of Elections Act (Stats. 1893, p. 12).

SECTION.

- 54a. Section 20 of the Purity of Elections Act (Stats. 1893, p. 12) is here codified.
- 54b. Section 19 of the Purity of Elections Act (Stats. 1893, p. 12) is here codified.
- 55a. This is a codification of the statute of 1897 to protect candidates for public office (Stats. 1897, p. 53).
57. The change consists in the insertion of the word "seven" in place of "fourteen," conforming the section to section 25 of the Purity of Elections Act (Stats. 1893, p. 12).
- 57a. This is a codification of section 26 of the Purity of Elections Act (Stats. 1893, p. 12).
59. This is a codification of section 41 of the Purity of Elections Act (Stats. 1893, p. 12).
62. The change consists in the insertion of the words "the provisions of chapter eight of title two of part three," in place of "section one thousand one hundred and ninety-one." Section 1191 does not treat of the form of election ballots, and the old form of reference is therefore inapplicable.
- 63b. This is a codification of the statute of 1873-4, page 297.
- 74a. This is a codification of the provisions of section 2 of the statute of 1871-2, page 951, with the following changes: the word "accepts" is inserted in place of "keeps," and the phrase "for his own use" is added after "retains."
76. The change consists in the addition of the clause "or willfully and unlawfully withholds or detains from his successor, or other person entitled thereto, any money or property in his custody as such officer." The old section made it punishable only for an officer to retain writings or records appertaining or belonging to his office, but did not extend to the manifestly graver offense above noted.
100. The change consists in the omission of the word "said" before "superintendent," the insertion of the word "chapter" in place of "act," and the omission of the phrase "in any court of competent jurisdiction," it being entirely unnecessary.
105. The old section was open to the objection that the punishment prescribed was unequal, not proportionate to the offense, and its constitutionality on that account has been sometimes doubted. The case of State v. Lewin (Kan.), 37 Pac. Rep. 168; Barbier v. Connolly, 113 U. S. 27; Coon Hing v. Crowley, 113 U. S. 703; Hayes v. Missouri, 120 U. S. 68; Home Ins. Co. v. N. Y., 134 U. S. 594; Pembina Mng. Co. v. Penn., 125 U. S. 181; Crowley v. Christenson, 137 U. S. 86; Yick Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U. S. 358; Civil Rights Cases, 103 U. S. 3, are cited in behalf of this view.
109. The amendment is designed to make it punishable to assist the escape of inmates of reformatories, and to accomplish this end the following insertions have been made: The words "or jail, or reformatory," the words "or any person," and the words "or jail, or public training school, or reformatory."
110. The change is in line with the proposed change in section 109. The words "jail, public training school, or reformatory" are inserted, and the words "or inmate" are added after "prisoner."
111. The change consists in the insertion of the words "and of the execution of the sentence of such convict" after "convict," and substitution of the words "judge of the superior court of such county" for "superior judge of said county." It is manifestly proper that the county should be recouped for the expenses covered by the amendment.
- 118a. The object of this new section is to punish those who instigate litigation by making false affidavits respecting the facts to which they will testify and is made necessary by the decision of the Supreme Court in People v. Simpton, 133 Cal. 367.
119. The change consists in the substitution of the words "two sections" for "section." The change is made necessary by the addition of section 118a to the code.
121. The matter following the word "manner" is new. The object of the amendment is to cut off the defense sometimes successfully made in perjury cases, that the defendant did not in fact go before the officer and take oath, it being at the same time admitted that he sent the affidavit to the officer with the intention that he should certify to it, and with the intention that it should be used as valid.
124. The change consists in the addition of the word "affidavit." The purpose is of the same character as that of the amendment to the preceding section.
129. The object of the section is similar to that of the proposed amendment to section 121. (See People v. Simpton, 133 Cal. 367.)
- 159a (159½). The change consists in the substitution of the word "annulment" for "nullity," and the substitution of "section" for "act."

SECTION.

- 161*a*. This section, which is a new one, is self-explanatory.
165. The word "public" is inserted before the word "corporation," as the section was undoubtedly intended to apply to bodies and authorities of a public character. The words "of which is afterward to be considered by" are inserted. The words "upon any understanding that his official vote, opinion, judgment, or action shall be influenced thereby, or shall be given in any particular manner or upon any particular side of any question or matter, upon which he may be required to act in his official capacity," were not in the report of the original Code Commission, but were inserted as a committee amendment at a previous session. The added words "in addition to said punishment" were likewise inserted by said committee.
168. "Presentment" is stricken out and "information" inserted in its place, for the reason that under the Constitution of 1879 there is no prosecution by presentment, that portion of this section (originally passed in 1872) having been superseded by the Constitution.
171. The scope of the section is broadened by the insertion of the words "jail or reformatory in this state," and the words "literature or reading matter."
- 171*a*, 171*b*, 171*c*, 180*a*. Sections 171*a*, 171*b*, and 171*c* contain the matter now contained in section 180*a*, and also a codification of the provisions of the statute of 1895, page 92.
172. The amendment of 1905 consolidated the provisions of the present section 172 with a codification of the statutes of 1873-4, page 12; 1880, page 80, and 1895, page 161, relating to the state university, soldiers' homes, and state capitol. There was no new legislation in the section, except that the former restriction as to the asylum for the insane at Napa was dropped altogether, and reformatories were placed within the same restriction as penitentiaries. The amendment of 1907 consisted in reducing the limit with reference to the state prison to half a mile and with reference to the reformatory to 1900 feet, and inserting the words "at Berkeley" after the words "University of California," so that there can be no possible question of construction as to what grounds of the university are referred to.
- 178, 179. These sections were, in the Circuit Court of the United States, Ninth Judicial District, explicitly held to be in violation of the Constitution of the United States, on May 22, 1880. (In re Parrott, 5 Pac. Coast L. J. 161.) They are now obsolete, and are, therefore, repealed. An ordinance in somewhat similar terms was also held unconstitutional in Ex parte Kerboch, 85 Cal. 274.
207. Two amendments: inserting the words "or into another part of the same county," and inserting beginning with the word "and" and ending with the word "thereof." The advisability of the first change is shown by the decision of the Supreme Court in Ex parte Keil, 85 Cal. 309, where it was held that the forcible removal of a person from San Pedro, Los Angeles county, to Santa Catalina island, in the same county, did not constitute kidnaping.
- 214, 218, 219. Section 218 has been broken up into three sections.
In view of the criticism passed by the Supreme Court in the case of People v. Thompson, 111 Cal. 242, upon section 218, and the suggestion of that court that the section be revised, there have been taken out of that section the provisions regarding robbery and the same have been amplified and made a new section, numbered 214, to be placed in Chapter IV, of Title VII, of Part I. In the new section the punishment is not prescribed as death or imprisonment for life at the option of the jury, as in section 218; but the grade of the offense is fixed at felony simply, it having been found that the severity of the punishment results in failure to secure convictions.
- Section 218 as amended provides only for attempted wrecking or derailment of railroad trains, and fixes the grade of the offense as felony simply, the matters formerly in the section regarding an accomplished or consummated wrecking or derailment being left to section 219, and the provisions regarding robbery being provided for in section 214.
- Section 219 contains the matter now in section 218 regarding an accomplished or consummated wrecking or derailment. The punishment is left at death or imprisonment for life, at the option of the jury, as now provided in section 218.
- In short, these three sections split up section 218 in the manner suggested by Judge Garoutte in People v. Thompson, 111 Cal. 242, and modify the penalty of train-wrecking where no death has occurred, so as to preclude failures to convict on account of the severity of the penalty.
- 266*a*, 266*b*, 266*c*, 266*d*, 266*e*, 266*f*. The statute of 1893, page 217, regarding the compulsory prostitution of women, is codified in the above-named sections. The penalties here set forth in sections 266*d*, 266*e*, and 266*f* are those of a felony instead of the various penalties set forth in the corresponding sections of the statute codified.

PENAL CODE—Continued.

SECTION.

- 266g. This section codifies the statute of 1891, page 285, regarding the placing and keeping of married women in houses of prostitution.
- 269a, 269b. The act to punish adultery (Stats. 1871-2, page 380) is codified in the two sections above named.
270. The change consists in the omission of the words now following the word "excuse," "to perform any duty imposed upon him by law." They are clearly without signification as employed in the section.
- 271a. The penal section of the statute of 1873-4, relating to the care of orphan and abandoned children, is codified in this section.
- 272, 273, 273a, 273b, 273c, 273d. The two statutes, one of 1877-8, page 812, and the other of 1877-8, page 813, relating to children, are codified by an amendment to section 272 and by the addition of sections 273, 273a, 273b, 273c, and 273d.
- 273c. The matter in section 1389, which incorrectly stands in a chapter entitled "Dismissal of the Action," is put into a new section designated as 273e in the proper chapter, with the other sections relative to children, and section 1389 accordingly repealed.
- 273f. As by the above codification of section 273 in 1905, there came to be in the Penal Code two sections of that number, the defect was remedied in 1907 by repealing section 273, as approved March 7, 1905, and re-enacting it as 273f.
302. The change consists in the omission of the word "noise" before the word "profane," it being manifestly an error in the statute, as it occurs later in the section with a qualification.
303. The section is in conflict with section 18 of Article XX of the Constitution, which provides that "no person shall, on account of sex, be disqualified from entering upon or pursuing any lawful business, vocation, or profession" (Ex parte Maguire, 57 Cal. 604), and is, therefore, repealed.
306. This section is explicitly held to be in conflict with sections 18 of Article XX of the Constitution in Ex parte Maguire, 57 Cal. 604, 609, and is, therefore, repealed.
- 310½. This section was explicitly held to be unconstitutional in Ex parte Jentzsch, 112 Cal. 468, and is, therefore, repealed.
315. The change consists in the addition of the matter following the semicolon. The new matter is taken from the statute of 1866, as amended 1873-4, page 84, and makes the reputation of the house evidence of its character and of that of the women resorting to it.
343. The change consists in the insertion, after the word "sales," of the words "or appointed by the sheriff of the county, or the head of the police department of any city, city and county, or town, to inspect such registry, or examine such articles on account of sales."
- 347a. This is a codification of the statute of 1880, page 102.
- 349a. This is a codification of the statute of 1886-7, page 17.
360. The change consists of the clause making it criminal to solemnize a marriage without being first presented with a marriage license, and the clause making it criminal to fail to file for record the marriage license and the certificate of marriage. The last of these amendments, besides being otherwise proper, is necessary in order to give effect to the amendment to section 79a of the Civil Code, which provides that a license must be procured in every case, and regardless of whether the parties are, or are not, members of some particular religious denomination having, as such, some peculiar mode of celebrating marriage.
- 369a. This is a codification of the statute of 1899, page 183.
- 369b. This is a codification of section 2 of chapter 3 of the statute of 1877-8, page 969.
- 369d, 369e, 369f. Codification of sections 4, 5, and 6 of chapter 3 of the statute of 1877-8, page 969.
- 369g. The purpose of the section is to prevent persons without right, going upon and along a railroad track when it lies upon the private right of way of the owner, with a bicycle or other vehicle, thus creating liability to collision and endangering their own lives and those of persons upon passing trains.
374. The change consists in the substitution of the word "crematory" for "cemetery."
- 375a. This is a codification of sections 1, 2, 3, and 4 of the statute of 1887, page 110.
376. The change consists in the omission after the word "officer," of the words "arriving in the port of San Francisco," thus making the statute general.
383. The amendment is a consolidation of the present section 383 with the statute of 1895, page 71. Section 4 of the statute has, however, been omitted as unnecessary.

SECTION.

- 383a. The statute of 1899, page 25 (repealed 1905:470), is here re-enacted and codified.
384. The amendment designates the punishment, and in this respect conforms the section to the statute of 1871-2, page 96, on the same subject, and inserts after the word "lands" the words "not his own," to conform the section to what was obviously the intent of the legislature.
- 384a. This is a codification of the statute of 1891, page 473, concerning the subject set forth in the section.
- 384b. This is a codification of section 5 of the statute of 1875-6, page 408, respecting the leaving of camp fires unextinguished.
- 384c. The codification of section 4 of the statute of 1875-6, page 408, respecting the wounding of animals while hunting upon the lands of another, was made by this section in 1905. In 1907 the section was amended by changing "and" to "or" between the words "willfully" and "negligently."
- 397b. This is a codification of the statute of 1903, page 319, respecting the sale of intoxicating liquors to children.
- 400, 401. There being two sections numbered 400, the one relating to the encouragement of suicide has been numbered 401.
- 401a. This is a codification of the statute of 1875-6, page 759, concerning lodging-houses and sleeping apartments.
- 402a (402 $\frac{1}{4}$). Section 402 $\frac{1}{4}$ for purposes of convenience is renumbered 402a.
- 402b (402 $\frac{1}{2}$). Section 402 $\frac{1}{2}$ is renumbered 402b.
- 402c (402 $\frac{3}{4}$). The change consists in the renumbering of section 402 $\frac{3}{4}$ to 402c.
- 402d. This is a codification of the statutes of 1893, page 302.
420. This is a codification of the statute of 1887, page 147.
470. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or of a fictitious person," in the beginning of the section. The purpose of the amendment is to make the forging of the name of a fictitious person, or knowingly signing the name of another, criminal if done with intent to defraud.
474. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or telephone" after "telegraph."
481. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or steamship" after "railroad," and "or vessels" after "cars."
482. The words "or steamship" are twice inserted after "railroad."
496. The change consists in the omission of the words "or both" after "months." Obviously it was not the intention of the legislature that the same offense should be punishable by imprisonment in both the state prison and the county jail.
497. The object of the amendment is to enlarge the scope of the section to include cases of embezzlement, and to accomplish this purpose the words "or embezzle" have been inserted after "steals," the word "embezzled" has been inserted after "stolen," and the words "or embezzlement" have been inserted after "larceny."
512. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or an indictment found by a grand jury," after "magistrate."
513. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or an indictment found by a grand jury," after "magistrate."
514. The amendment substitutes "in" for "under" before the word "this," thus making a person convicted of embezzlement ineligible to any office in this state, whether it be a state office or not.
526. Section repealed because unconstitutional. (Ex parte Quarg. 84 Pac. Rep. 766).
529. The change consists in the insertion of the words "in either his private or official capacity" after "another," the amendment being designed with the purpose of changing the construction put upon this section in People v. Knox, 119 Cal. 73, where it was held that the section did not apply to a case where a person falsely assumes an official character.
530. With the same object in view as in the amendment to the preceding section, the words "in either his private or official capacity" have been inserted after "another."
532. The amendment is intended to make it criminal to procure the labor or services of another, or to defraud him of real property, by representations known to be false. With respect to real property, this changes the rule announced in People v. Cummings, 114 Cal. 437. The change consists in the addition of the words "whether real or personal," after "property."
537. There were two sections numbered 537. The one regarding the removal of mortgaged chattels (enacted in 1893) is repealed, the matter contained in it being sufficiently provided for in section 538, infra; the other (enacted in 1899, and amended in 1903) remained in force.
- 537a (537 $\frac{1}{2}$). Section 537 $\frac{1}{2}$ is renumbered 537a, and the word "valuable" is substituted for "legal" before "consideration." Section 2 is omitted because not properly a part of the Penal Code.

SECTION.

537b (537 $\frac{1}{4}$). Renumbered, but not amended.

538. The amendment extends the operation of the section to cases where personal property is taken, removed, or driven from the county in which it is mortgaged with the intention of defrauding the mortgagee. The change consists in the addition of the words "with intent to defraud the mortgagee, his representatives or assigns, takes, drives, carries away, or otherwise removes or permits the taking, driving, or carrying away, or other removal of the mortgaged property, or any part thereof, from the county where it was situated when mortgaged, without the written consent of the mortgagee, or who." There were two sections of this number: one, added March 9, 1893, which was amended as above set forth; the other, added March 11, 1893, which was renumbered (1905:686) as 538a.

538a (538). Section 538, as added March 11, 1893, is renumbered 538a.

538b (543 $\frac{1}{2}$). This section consists of the matter formerly in section 543 $\frac{1}{2}$. The change is made by placing the matter in a section in the proper chapter. By some inadvertence the legislature placed it in the chapter providing for the punishment of persons fraudulently fitting out and destroying vessels.

564. The amendment is intended to incorporate in the section such provisions of the statute of 1877-8, page 695, as are not already sufficiently expressed therein. That statute, however, is limited to corporations whose stock is listed on the stock board or exchange. The amendment omits this limitation, for the reason that its constitutionality is doubtful.

591. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or telephone, or any other line used to conduct electricity."

593a. This is a codification of the statute of 1875-6, page 32, relating to the protection of lumber manufacturers.

597. The amendment consolidates the present section 597 with section 6 of the statute of 1873-4, page 499, as amended 1901, page 285, for the more effectual prevention of cruelty to animals.

597a, 597b, 597c, 597d, 597e, 597f. These sections are a codification of sections 7, 8, 9, 11, 12, and 13 of the last-named statute, as amended 1901, page 285.

597g. The statute of 1873-4, page 228, to prevent stallions running at large, and of 1877-8, page 437, respecting buck goats, and of 1871-2, page 63, to provide for the keeping of stallions, are codified in this section, and makes the law concerning the running at large of stallions in Sacramento and Mono counties, by extending its provisions, applicable to the state at large.

598a. This is a codification of the statute of 1897, page 37, for the protection of Antwerp messenger or homing pigeons.

599. The statute of 1875-6, page 287, to protect sea-gulls in the neighborhood of Santa Monica, and the statute of 1889, page 205, to prevent the destruction of blue cranes, were in 1905 codified in this section. At the same session a section 599 (not proposed by the commissioner), referring to the killing of elk. To change this a bill was passed in 1907, under the provisions of which the former section 599 was left intact, while the latter was repealed and re-enacted as 599f.

599a. This section is a codification of section 10 of the statute of 1873-4, page 499, as amended 1901, page 286, for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

599b, 599c. Sections 16 and 17 of the statute of 1873-4, page 499, for the more effectual prevention of cruelty to animals, are codified in the above sections.

599d, 599e. Codifying sections 7 and 8 of the statute of 1901, page 287, adding sections 20 and 21 to the statute of 1873-4, page 499.

599f. See 599.

600. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or telephone" before "poles."

601. The section is amended to conform it to section 8 of the statute of 1887, page 110, to protect life and property against the careless and malicious use or handling of dynamite and other explosives.

602. The change consists in the addition of the eighth and ninth subdivisions. The eighth subdivision is a codification of the statute of 1871-2, page 384, and the ninth is a codification of part of section 3 of the statute of 1875-6, page 408, to prevent hunting upon inclosed lands.

603. The section declaring that certain injuries to trees on the lands of the United States, including the cutting of them, do not constitute public offenses, is hereby repealed, as it is obviously improper for the state to undertake to legalize trespasses upon, or injuries to, the public lands of the federal government.

609. The amendment incorporates the provisions of the statute of 1873-4, page 619, for the protection of buoys and beacons.

SECTION.

619. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or telephonic" after "telegraphic."
620. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or telephonic" after "telegraphic."
621. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or telephone" before "office."
638. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or telephone" before "office."
639. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or telephone" before "office."
640. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or telephone" before "line" and before "office."
641. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or telephone" before "act."
- 653*b*. There were formerly in this Code two sections each numbered 654. The change consists in renumbering the one approved March 30, 1874, to read 653*b*.
- 653*c*. This is a new section, codifying, word for word, the eight-hour law (Stats. 1903, p. 119).
- 653*d*. This is a new section, codifying section 1 of the statute of 1871-2, page 951, to protect wages of labor, inserting, however, the words "for his own use," to make same conform to intention of original act.
654. There were formerly in this Code two sections each numbered 654. The change consists in renumbering the one approved March 30, 1874, to read 653*b*.
666. The amendment consists in the substitution of the word "five" for "ten." At the session of 1903, sections 666 and 667 were changed, the former being amended, and the latter repealed. Through a mistake in copying the proposed amendment to section 666, the section, as it was then amended, left a large class of cases unprovided for. The word "ten," on the fourth line of subdivision 1, has been changed to "five," so that where the punishment for a first conviction would be six, seven, eight, nine, or ten years, some penalty shall attach, for, as the section was amended in 1903, a second conviction for an offense punishable, say by seven, or even ten years, entailed no penalty.
777. The amendment declares that the jurisdiction of any public offense not otherwise specially provided for is within the county where it was committed. Although this has always been understood to be the law, the Code contained no express declaration upon the subject. The change consists in the addition, after the words "United States," of the words "and except as herein otherwise provided, the jurisdiction of any public offense is in the county wherein it is committed."
- 778*a*. The section is designed to provide for the punishment of persons who in this state do an act culminating in the commission of a crime in another state.
- 778*b*. The object of this section is to provide for the punishment of persons who, being out of the state, encourage the commission of crimes within this state, and are themselves afterward found within this state.
784. The change consists in the substitution of the word "eighteen" for "twenty-five" after "of"; and in the substitution of the word "eighteen" for "sixteen" after "of"; and in the insertion of the word "brought" in place of "taken."
789. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or embezzling" after "stealing," and of the words "or embezzled" after the word "stolen."
840. The purpose of the amendment is to authorize an officer to arrest without a warrant at night-time for a misdemeanor committed in his presence. The change consists in the addition of the words "except when the offense is committed in the presence of the arresting officer."
872. The change consists in the substitution of the word "complaint" for "deposition," and in the omission of the words "and committed to the sheriff of the county of blank," at the end of the section.
882. The change consists in the insertion of the words "and such deposition may be used upon the trial of the defendant, except in cases of homicide, under the same condition as mentioned in section 1345," after the word "discharged."
- 907, 908, 909, 910. These sections purported to authorize the court, if an offense is committed during a term of court, but after the grand jury has been discharged, to summon another grand jury. There are now no "terms of court," and any necessity which may arise after one grand jury has been discharged can be met by the drawing of another. These sections are, therefore, repealed.
915. The change consists in the omission of the words "either by presentment or," after "court." The change is made for the reason that grand juries no longer have authority to prefer presentments.

SECTION.

916. This section relates to and defines presentments by grand juries, and, as they no longer have authority to prefer a presentment, the section is superfluous and misleading, and is, therefore, repealed.
919. The change consists in the omission of the words "for the purpose of either presentment or indictment" after "charge." The change is made because grand juries have no longer authority to prefer presentments.
923. The change consists in the substitution of the word "or" in place of "and" between "willful" and "corrupt."
925. The statute of 1871-2, page 540, authorizing the grand jury or district attorney to require the attendance of an interpreter, is codified in the last sentence.
- 931, 932, 933, 934, 935, 936, 937. These sections compose Chapter IV of Title IV of Part II of the Penal Code. They relate solely to the proceedings after finding a presentment, and since the adoption of the Constitution of 1879 have been inoperative, and are, therefore, repealed.
954. The amendment is designed to authorize an offense to be set forth under different counts, and to excuse the prosecution from electing between them.
969. This is a re-enactment of the section as it existed prior to its repeal in 1880. It is believed that no good reason for such repeal existed.
1004. The change consists in the insertion of the words "except as provided in section 954" after "warden." The object of the amendment is to make this section conform to the change in section 954, supra.
1008. The purpose of the amendment is to authorize, where a demurrer to an indictment is sustained, the resubmission of the charge to the grand jury which found the original indictment, if it has not been discharged. This amendment changes the rule announced in Terrill v. Superior Court (60 Pac. Rep. 516.) To accomplish this, the words "the same or" have been inserted before the word "another."
1020. The change consists in the substitution of the word "one" for "that" before "specified."
1025. This is a re-enactment of the section as it existed prior to its repeal in 1880. By such repeal no provision was left for any plea to a charge of former conviction, and it is believed this should be provided for in the Code.
1033. The change consists in the omission of the word "first" after "pending," and of the words "where the action is pending. Second—On the application of the district attorney on the ground that from any cause no jury can be obtained for the trial of the defendant in the county where the action is pending" after "county," the provisions relative to a change of the place of trial in a criminal action on application of the district attorney having been held unconstitutional in People v. Powell, 87 Cal. 348.
1034. The design of the amendment is to conform this section to the amendment to the last section. The change consists in the insertion of the words "for removal" after "application"; in the omission of the words "or of the district attorney, as the case may be," after "defendant"; in the insertion of the word "district" after "the"; in the omission of the words "of the adverse party" after "attorney"; and in the insertion after "application" of the sentence "At the hearing the district attorney may serve and file such counter affidavits as he may deem advisable."
- 1103a. This section is composed of matter taken from section 1968 of the Code of Civil Procedure.
1108. The amendment consists in the substitution of the word "eighteen" for "twenty-five." The purpose is to conform the section to the provisions of section 266.
1110. The amendment consists in the insertion of the word "labor" before "money," and in the substitution of the words "or property, whether real or personal," in place of "personal property," thus conforming the section to the amendment to section 532.
1147. The change consists in the omission of the words "at the same or another term" after "tried," because there are now no terms of court.
- 1171, 1174. The design of the commissioner's amendments to these sections in 1905 was to bring about as far as possible an avoidance of the delay now so common in getting criminal cases to a hearing in the Supreme Court, and to require bills of exceptions in criminal cases to be settled as expeditiously as is compatible with the circumstances of the case. The phraseology of the present sections was changed in certain respects to more clearly express its purpose. The clerk was required, upon receipt of the draft, to note such receipt thereon; and the judge, upon receipt thereof, was required to immediately designate a time for settlement and have the parties notified thereof, if not present. The time so fixed could be changed for the convenience of a party, except upon good cause shown by affidavit. In the session of 1907, however, a bill by a member of the legislature changed some of the above amendments.

SECTION.

- 1176. The purpose of this amendment is to correct imperfections and confusion in the language of the former section, and to more clearly point out the duty of the judge in noting his action upon instructions requested by the parties.
- 1182. The change consists in the addition of the words "and the order granting or denying the same must be immediately entered by the clerk in the minutes" after "judgment," and is designed to conform the section to the present practice.
- 1185. The change consists in the addition of the words "when determined, the order must be immediately entered by the clerk in the minutes," after "judgment," and is designed to conform this section to the present practice.
- 1186. See note to section 1185.
- 1187. The purpose of this amendment is to give the same effect to an order of the court made on its own motion under section 1186 as section 1187 now gives to an order made on motion of the defendant.
- 1191. The change consists in the omission of the words "if the court intend to remain in session so long; but if not, then at as remote a time as can reasonably be allowed," after "verdict," because the courts are always open.
- 1201. The change consists in the substitution of the words "a state hospital for the care and treatment of the insane" for "lunatic asylum" after "to."
- 1206. The amendment makes the section applicable whether the fine was imposed with or without the alternative of imprisonment. (See People v. Brown, 113 Cal. 35.)
- 1207. The design of the amendment is to conform the section to the amendment to section 1176. To effect this the words "and the certified transcript of the charge of the court" are inserted after "thereon."
- 1214. The amendment makes the rule of the section applicable, though the punishment include imprisonment as well as fine. (See People v. Brown, 113 Cal. 35.)
- 1221. The amendment is designed to permit the warden to act without procuring the concurrence of the judge of the superior court, and requires the district attorney to act upon the suggestion of the warden by filing a petition and taking proceedings thereunder to ascertain whether the defendant is insane.
- 1222. The change consists in the substitution of the word "hearing" for "inquisition."
- 1223. The amendment requires the verdict to be entered upon the minutes, and the court thereupon to enter an order for the confinement of the defendant in a hospital if he is found to be insane.
- 1224. The amendment provides for the action to be taken when the defendant recovers his reason, and consists in striking out all of the words following "execution," and in substituting new provisions in lieu thereof.
- 1225. The amendment conforms the section to the proposed change in section 1221.
- 1226. The change consists in the insertion of the words "certified copy of the finding and certificate," and in the addition of the provision relative to the Governor's issuing his warrant upon receiving a certificate from the warden.
- 1227. The change consists in the addition of the last sentence, which provides that no appeal can be taken from the order fixing the time for the execution of the judgment.
- 1235. The amendment is designed to make the section conform to Article VI, section 4, of the Constitution, which provides that the Supreme Court has jurisdiction "in all criminal cases prosecuted by indictment or information in a court of record, on questions of law alone," it having been held (in People v. Jordan, 65 Cal. 644) that it has jurisdiction in all such cases, and that if its jurisdiction by appeal is restricted to cases of felony, it would devolve upon it to establish some appropriate system of appellate procedure by which it could review all other convictions based upon an indictment or information.
- 1238. The change consists in the omission of subdivision 6, because the court can not make the order therein referred to, its action being limited to advising the jury to acquit; and if this advice is followed, an appeal is necessarily unavailing, because a defendant after his acquittal can not be placed upon trial. (See People v. Stoll, 143 Cal. 689.)
- 1239. The amendment reduces the time within which an appeal may be taken from a judgment from one year to ninety days from rendition.
- 1240. The change consists in the omission of the words "or filed," after "entered."
- 1241. The change consists in the insertion of the words "by affidavit filed therein" after "thereof," the present section being entirely silent respecting the mode of proof.
- 1245. The change consists in the insertion of the words "the execution of the" before "judgment."

SECTION.

1264. The design of the amendment is to require a copy of the opinion of the Supreme Court to be certified to and sent to the clerk of the court below with the remittitur. The change consists in the insertion of the words "with a copy of the opinion of the court attached thereto" after "entry."
1305. The words "within twenty days after such entry in the minutes" are substituted for the words "before the final judgment of the court" after "time."
1306. The amendment is designed to conform the section to the amendment to section 1305, and the change consists in the substitution of the words "twenty days from the entry upon the minutes, as provided in the last section" for the words "the adjournment of the court" after the word "after."
1307. The change consists in the insertion of the words "at the end of thirty days unless the court has before that time discharged the forfeiture" in place of the words "immediately after the adjournment of the court."
- 1335, 1336, 1337, 1338, 1339, 1340, 1341. By the amendment to the above sections, the provisions of the statute respecting the conditional examination of witnesses have been extended so far as may be constitutionally done, to the end that the prosecution, except in cases of homicide, may have the same privilege as the accused of taking conditionally the testimony of witnesses who are about to leave the state, or who are so sick and infirm as to afford reasonable grounds for apprehending that they will be unable to attend the trial. The proposed change is within the contemplation of that part of section 13 of Article I of the Constitution, which provides that "the legislature shall have power to provide for the taking, in the presence of the party accused and his counsel, of depositions of witnesses in criminal cases, other than cases of homicide, when there is reason to believe that the witness, from inability or other cause, will not attend the trial."
1370. The change consists in the substitution of the words "a state hospital for the care and treatment of the insane," in place of "insane asylum."
1372. The change consists in the substitution of the words "state hospital" for "asylum."
1373. The change consists in the substitution of the words "state hospital" for "asylum."
1387. Inserts in the section relating to an order for dismissal being a bar in cases of misdemeanor, a provision that where the order explicitly is made for the purpose of allowing an amended complaint to be filed, the order for dismissal shall not constitute a bar. This revision corrects a manifest abuse.
1388. The change consists in the insertion of the words "of a minor" after "prosecution," and in the insertion of the word "the" before "custody."
1389. The matter in section 1389, which has incorrectly stood in a chapter entitled "Dismissal of the Action," is put into a new section designated as 273e, and is put in its proper chapter, with the other sections relative to children, and section 1389 accordingly repealed.
1425. This is a new section containing the matter now in section 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure.
1427. The changes consist in the matter providing a mode for compelling a corporation to appear in response to a complaint accusing it of a misdemeanor.
1467. The amendment limits the time within which appeals from judgments and orders may be taken to the Superior Court in criminal cases.
1475. The change in 1905 consisted in the addition of the last sentence in subdivision 2. The purpose of the amendment was to prevent one who, after a hearing upon habeas corpus, had been remanded to custody, from applying thereafter to the same or another superior court or judge, unless upon some ground not existing at the issuing of the prior writ, or unless upon some point of law not raised at the hearing upon the return of the prior writ. Certain abuses of the section still continuing in the practice, the whole section was recast in 1907 in the present drastic form.
1510. The amendment consists of the last two sentences. The matter thus added to the section is a codification of a part of the provisions of section 3 of the statute of 1871-2, page 403, as amended by the statute of 1875-6, page 397, respecting jurors summoned to act at coroners' inquests.
- 1511a. This section is a codification of section 6 of the statute of 1871-2, page 403, above referred to.
- 1511b. Section 7 of the statute last referred to is codified in this section.
1512. The change consists in the insertion of the words "or hold a post mortem examination thereon, or a chemist to make analysis of the tissues of the body of the deceased" after "body." This provision is taken from sections 1 and 2 of the statute of 1871-2, page 403, above referred to.

SECTION.

1513. The amendment consists in inserting the word "be" before the word "punished."
- 1514a. This is a codification of section 15 of the statute of 1871-2, page 403, relating to coroners.
1515. The change consists in the insertion of the words "and all recognizances taken by him" after the word "inquisition."
1541. The amendment consists in the omission of the word "together" after "annex"; in the omission of all of the section following "inventory," and in the substitution therefor of a provision to the effect that if the magistrate has not power to inquire into the offense, he must file the warrant and the deposition and return with the clerk of the court having power to so inquire.
- 1573 to 1588, and 1590 to 1595, were repealed in the session of 1905. These sections, which then comprised Title I of Part III of the Penal Code, with the exception of the last sentence of section 1593, had been completely superseded by the Constitution of 1879 and the general statutes in pursuance thereof. The portion of section 1593 which was then still in force was at the same session incorporated into an act to amend the statute of 1889, page 404 (1905:520), concerning the state prisons, so that it was preserved, notwithstanding the repeal of these superseded and therefore useless provisions. In 1907 the act of March 19, 1889 (Stats. 1889, p. 404), and the act of 1905 (Stats. 1905, p. 520), were codified in the new sections 1572-1596, inclusive.
1603. The change consists in the substitution of the words "judge of the superior court" in place of "county judge," and in the substitution of the word "order" for "appointment."
1605. The change consists in the substitution of the words "judge of the superior court" for "county judge."
1615. This section is a codification of section 1 of the statute of 1883, page 280, to protect the public health.

POLITICAL CODE.

SECTION.

11. Repealed, because its provisions are already contained, word for word, in section 10 of the same Code.
35. Codifies the statute of 1873-4, page 621.
75. Repealed and re-enacted with remaining sections.
- 78-106, incl. Repealed, because obsolete, having been superseded by the act of March 16, 1874 (Stats. 1873-4, p. 366), which was itself superseded by later acts.
- 78, 90. Codification of act of March 21, 1901 (Stats. 1901, p. 535).
117. Repealed, because obsolete, having been superseded by the act of March 30, 1872 (Stats. 1872, p. 714). Added as a codification of the act of March 23, 1901 (Stats. 1901, p. 548).
125. Corresponds to the provisions of Article XIII, section 9 of the Constitution, as amended Nov. 4, 1884, and is inserted in Code to make the title complete.
130. Corresponds to the provisions of Article XII, section 23 of the Constitution, and is inserted in Code to make the title complete.
135. Corresponds to the provisions of Article VI, section 4 of the Constitution, as amended Nov. 8, 1904, and is inserted in the Code to make the title complete.
230. Repealed, because superseded by the act of March 16, 1874 (Stats. 1873-4, p. 366).
- 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295. Repealed, because inconsistent with Article V, section 4 of the Constitution. If there is any mode of contesting the election it must be by proceedings in the nature of quo warranto. (See State v. Sadler, 25 Nev. 131).
349. Repealed, because the office of state printer was abolished by the act of 1871, p. 554, which was itself later superseded by section 526 of the Political Code.
364. Amended by adding "or during his absence from the capitol, the assistant attorney-general," to harmonize section with present section 412 of the same Code.
367. Repealed, because superseded by the provisions of the Constitution of 1879 covering the subject.
416. Amended in 1907 by adding the words "or certified copy of order and decree of court dissolving a corporation" in subdivision 25, to provide for a fee for the new duties rendered necessary by the amendment to section 1232 of the Code of Civil Procedure, and by increasing by five hundred dollars the amount to be turned into the state library fund monthly.

POLITICAL CODE—Continued.

SECTION.

444. A codification of the statute of 1899, page 156.
- 453a. A codification of the act of April 3, 1880 (Stats. 1880, p. 20).
461. A codification of the act of March 25, 1874 (Stats. 1873-4, p. 593).
- 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554. These sections were intended to be terminated by the act of March 27, 1874 (Stats. 1873-4, p. 694), after the passage of which they became obsolete, and are here (1907) repealed.
- 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567. These sections were repealed because they had been superseded by the act of April 6, 1891 (Stats. 1891, p. 487). The article was probably unconstitutional under Article XI, section 14 of the State Constitution and also under subdivision 5 of Article VIII of the Constitution of the United States. (See also Condict v. Police Court, 59 Cal. 278).
595. The amendment consisted in changing the word "district" to the word "superior" before the word "court."
- 1478-1486d, incl. A codification of the act of March 26, 1878 (Stats. 1877-S, p. 533). The statutes of March 3, 1883 (Stats. 1883, p. 26), and March 18, 1885 (Stats. 1885, p. 203), so far as they have been passed upon, were pronounced unconstitutional. (See People v. Kewen, 69 Cal. 215, and Foltz v. Hoge, 54 Cal. 28. For the purposes of codification it has been assumed that both these amendatory statutes, in their entirety, are unconstitutional, and this codification is based upon the statute of 1878 alone.
- 2039-2117, incl. (old sections). By some oversight the new National Guard Act of March 18, 1905 (Stats. 1905, p. 258), constituting Chapter II of Title IV of the Political Code, while it covered the subject formerly contained in Chapters II, III, IV, V, and VI of that title and made the matter contained in Chapters III, IV, V, and VI parts of different articles under the new Chapter II, yet specifically repealed only the old Chapter II and failed to repeal specifically the old Chapters III, IV, V, and VI. The plain "intent of the legislature" was by this act and the statute of 1905, page 285, to revise the whole title on the state militia. Inasmuch as these chapters were not specifically repealed in 1905, the sections composing them (old sections 2039-2117, incl.), were specifically repealed in 1907.
- 2207-2207k, incl. A codification of the act of March 17, 1887 (Stats. 1887, p. 160).
- 2210-2210g, incl. A codification of the act of April 1, 1897 (Stats. 1897, p. 447).
- 2283-2290, incl. A codification of the act of March 25, 1880 (Stats. 1880, p. 13), and of the act of March 7, 1883 (Stats. 1883, p. 57).
- 2319-2319j, incl. A codification of the act of March 13, 1883 (Stats. 1883, p. 289), and its amendments.
- 2322, 2322a, 2322b, 2322c, 2322d, 2322e. A codification of the act of March 31, 1897 (Stats. 1897, p. 244).
- 2340, 2351. The amendment of section 2349, as recommended by the commissioner and as originally introduced, consisted of adding all after the words "in Monterey County, from its mouth as far up as tide water flows." This amalgamated into it the provisions of section 2351, which was repealed, and a codification of the act of March 30, 1874 (Stats. 1873-4, p. 790), the act of March 25, 1876 (Stats. 1875-6, p. 485), and the act of March 29, 1878 (Stats. 1877-8, p. 630). On February 14, 1907, however, without the suggestion of the commissioner, on the floor of the Assembly, the following additional amendment of section 2349 was made: after the words "that portion of Channel street in the city of San Francisco," the following words were stricken out: "and lying east of and between the easterly line of Harrison street and the water front of the bay of San Francisco, the width thereof to be sixty feet from Harrison street to the northeasterly line of Seventh street, and one hundred and forty feet from the northeasterly line of Seventh to the city front," and in lieu thereof there was inserted the following: "lying easterly of the northeasterly line of Seventh street, the width thereof to be one hundred forty feet."
- 2787, 2789. Sections 2787 and 2789 have been entirely recast, revising and broadening the toll-road law to conform to the growing and unforeseen needs, complications and improvements in the toll-road business.
2802. Extends the provisions of the article on toll roads for automobiles and other horseless vehicles.
3198. Amended to conform to the fee bill in section 416 of the Political Code, which had, both with reference to the fee to be collected and with reference to the disposition of the fees collected, superseded said section 3198.
- 3493m-3493t, incl. A codification of the act of March 24, 1893 (Stats. 1893, p. 341).
3627. Amended by striking out of the section as it formerly stood the words "and every contract by which a debtor is obliged to pay any tax or assessment on money loaned, or on any mortgage, deed of trust, or other lien, shall, as to any interest specified therein and as to such tax or assessment, be null and void," and adding in lieu thereof the last sentence now (1907)

SECTION.

- contained in the section, so as to give effect to the intent of the amendment to Article XIII of the Constitution, adopted June 12, 1906 (Stats. 1906, p. 90) and ratified by the people at the general election held in November, 1906.
3902. The amendment is a codification of section 1 of the County Government Act of 1897 (Stats. 1897, p. 452), and Article XI, section 1 of the Constitution, and is here placed in its proper title.
- 3975a. A codification of the act of March 23, 1893 (Stats. 1893, p. 235).
- 3975b. A codification of a portion of section 11 of the County Government Act of 1897 (Stats. 1897, p. 452), and is here placed in the proper title. The former provision concerning the removal is omitted, it being inserted in section 3981 of this Code.
3976. A codification of section 12 of the County Government Act of 1897 (Stats. 1897, p. 452), substituted for the provisions of former sections 3976 and 3977 of this Code, and here placed in the proper title. The part of said section 12 concerning election is omitted as it is already covered by the provisions of present section 3979.
3977. Repealed, because included in section 3976, as amended.
3981. This section has been amended to make it conform to Article XI, section 2 of the Constitution, and it contains a codification of a portion of section 11 of the County Government Act of 1897 not already contained in section 1375a.
3985. All after the word "election," where it appears the third time, is omitted because it is superfluous, being already contained in other sections of the chapter.
4152. The words "county and" have been added in the amendment to this section, as it is evident, from the caption of the original title and from section 4453, that the legislature intended such liability to extend also to the county.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT ACT OF 1907.

The codified County Government Act of 1907 (Stats. 1907, p. 354) comprises the following sections of the Political Code covering the act of April 1, 1897, entitled "An act to establish a uniform system of county and township governments" (Stats. 1897, p. 452), hereafter in notes to this title referred to as the "Act of 1897," together with all acts to date amendatory or supplementary thereto, the Fee Bill Act of 1895, the Law Library Act of 1891 and the amendments thereto, and a few other statutes, all referred to specifically in the following notes.

All changes therein, and additions thereto, have been noted. All sections of said act of 1897, except sections 11, 12, 13, 232, 233, and 234 have been inserted. Sections 11 and 12 have been omitted, as they properly form part of Chapter II in the preceding title, to which they have been added. Section 13 has been omitted because it has been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court (Ex parte Anderson, 134 Cal. 53). Sections 232, 233, and 234 are excluded as unnecessary.

Sections 4007, 4020, 4220, and 4221 are respectively former sections 4007, 4107, 4273, and 4271 of the present Political Code carried into this title. The old sections 4000 to 4347, both inclusive, in Title II, Part IV of the Political Code, were repealed.

The provision that "all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith are hereby repealed," generally found in them, leaves in their train portions of former acts in force. The Supreme Court on the 23d of June, 1899, for instance, in the case of Davis v. Post, 125 Cal. 210, decided "that section 191 of the County Government Act of 1893, being a later expression of legislative will than section 2641 of the Political Code, with which it is inconsistent, must prevail," and yet since the date that the act of 1897 went into operation it was the act governing the several counties, notwithstanding the County Government Act of 1893. For an interesting discussion on the effect of such repealing clauses as "All acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed," in connection with County Government acts, see also Freman vs. Marshall, 137 Cal. 159, 163. How many more provisions of the various County Government acts which have been heretofore enacted will be brought up as occasions arise in litigation it is impossible to say. In this state of affairs, it is recommended that after this revision of the title shall have been in force long enough not to affect incumbents holding under the old acts, all County Government acts enacted in other form be expressly repealed.

The following are the sections of the Political Code covered by the act:

SECTION.

4000. Every county is a body corporate and politic, and as such has the powers specified in this title, and such other powers as are necessarily implied from those expressed. This section is drawn from section 1 of the County Government Act of 1897 (Stats. 1897, p. 452), and present section 4000 of the Political Code.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT ACT OF 1907—Continued.

- 4037. This is the remainder of section 19 of act of 1897.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT ACT OF 1907—Continued.

SECTION.

4038. This is section 20 of act of 1897. See present section 4030 of the Political Code.
4039. This is section 21 of act of 1897, which superseded old section 4030 of the Political Code.
4040. This is a portion of section 24 of act of 1897.
4041. Is copied from section 25 of the County Government Act of 1897:
1. In subdivision 5 the word "almshouses" is substituted for the word "poor-houses."
 2. In subdivision 6 "almshouse" is substituted for "poorhouse."
 3. Subdivision 12½ is omitted, because the subject is covered by section 4055.
 4. Subdivision 13 is omitted, because covered in another section, and section 25½, which was added in 1903 (Stats. 1903, p. 160), and which should have been a subdivision of this section, is inserted in place of the old subdivision 13.
 5. Subdivision 20 is omitted as being embodied in section 4225, under Article III of Chapter IX, entitled "Health Officers."
 6. Subdivision 21 is omitted, and the subject is contained in section 4048.
 7. Subdivision 22 is omitted, and the subject is covered by section 4049.
- Owing to the omission of subdivisions 20, 21, and 22, as above set forth, the succeeding subdivisions have been renumbered, subdivision 25 being subdivision 22, and being amended to conform to the present section 3366 of the Political Code (Stats. 1901, p. 635), by which it has been repealed by implication (Ex parte Pfirrmann, 134 Cal. 143).
- Except as stated above, the foregoing is section 25 of the act of 1897. It superseded old section 4046 of the Political Code.
4042. Is a copy of section 52 of act of 1897.
4043. Is a copy of the act of April 1, 1897 (Stats. 1897, p. 404).
4044. Is a copy of section 141 of act of 1897.
4045. Is a copy of section 225 of act of 1897.
4046. This is taken from the act of April 1, 1876 (Stats. 1875-6: 803).
4047. This section is drawn from the act of March 27, 1897 (Stats. 1897, p. 191).
4048. This was all of subdivision 21 of section 25 of act of 1897, except the last clause thereof, which portion was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court (Van Harlingen v. Doyle, 134 Cal. 53). Subdivision 21 superseded old section 4047 of the Political Code.
4049. This is subdivision 22 of section 25 of act of 1897.
- 4049a. Statistical report codified.
4050. This is section 48 of act of 1897, which superseded section 4081 of the Political Code.
4051. This is section 50 of act of 1897.
4052. Section 51 of act of 1897, which superseded old section 4084 of the Political Code.
- 4052a. This section is drawn from the act of April 3, 1880 (Stats. 1880, p. 20), and the act of February 10, 1881 (Stats. 1881, p. 2).
- 4053, 4054. These sections are taken from the act of April 23, 1880 (Stats. 1880, 133).
4055. This is taken substantially from the act of February 25, 1897 (Stats. 1897, p. 28). Subdivision 12½ of section 25 of act of 1897 omitted, as it is fully covered by this section.
4056. This is section 66a, as added to act of 1897 in 1905 (Stats. 1905, p. 476).
- 4056a. This is section 25½, as added to act of 1897 in 1905 (Stats. 1905, p. 722).
4057. This is section 26 of act of 1897.
4065. Is a copy of section 28 of act of 1897, which superseded old section 4067 of the Political Code.
4066. Is a copy of section 29 of act of 1897.
4067. Is a copy of section 30 of act of 1897.
4068. Is a copy of section 31 of act of 1897.
4069. This is section 32 of act of 1897. Sections 4047 and 4048 of the Political Code treated on the subject-matter of this section.
4070. This is section 33 of act of 1897. Section 4069 of the Political Code contains like provisions.
